COURT HEARING IS STARTED

MAY START PEDONESI DEFENSE THIS AFTERNOON

Prosecution In Pedonesi Trial Near Conclusion

Defense Is Likely To Be Started In County Court Late Today

READ STATEMENT MADE TO POLICE

Two Of Witnesses On Stand This Morning Appear Rather Unwilling

From the indications at the noon recess today, the commonwealth has about finished its case against Angelo Pedonesi, charged with the murder of Policeman Robert H. Dukes who died on February 13 from injuries received in a fight with Pedonesi on February 9. It was thought that the defense might get started sometime this afternoon.

The only feature of the morning session was the testimony of two commonwealth witnesses who seemed unwilling to testify or else were not able to comprehend the questions.

The two were Sam Santucci, held on a charge of accessory after the fact and Matilda Delmar, who worked in Santucci's restaurant on West Long Avenue. Both of them denied any knowledge of the case, both of them denied having written a letter to the Pedonesi family in Cleveland, O., or to have sent a clipping of a News article reporting the case.

Can't Read Or Write

In the case of Santucci he not only denied having knowledge of the crime but said that police officers had forced him to sign a statement which is in the possession of the district attorney. The statement purports to be Santucci's in which he told certain facts concerning the crime.

Upon direct examination Santucci said he knew Pedonesi. Sam Traci and Paul Perconti, that they had been in his restaurant on February 9 and all of them had eaten a steak dinner. Following this, at about three o'clock he said Pedonesi and Traci had left his retaurant and gone some place. They came back about half an hour later and left in their car. Perconti had not left the restaurant the first time but when they went back to Cleveland he accompanied them.

Shown Statement

Shown a statement which he is said to have signed he said that police officers had forced him to sign the statement, that he could not read or write (except his name) and that he did not know what was

PA NEWC OBSERVES

One nice thing about winter it is never over until spring actually gets here. The temperature this morning, only six degrees above zero is convincing proof. However, with the official entry of spring only ten days away, folks will be able to grin and bear it a lot more cheerfully.

Several New Castle auto drivers have been among those arrested in the traffic crusade being waged by the police of Youngstown on the streets of that city recently. A campaign to force observance of traffic regulations is under way, largely due to the excessive number of traffic accidents recently.

Suburban Day Here Thursday

Thursday will be Suburban Day again in New Castle, when the city's leading merchants will stretch themselves a bit to give their many patrons something extra for their money.

Visitors here from outside the city, and there are expected to be many, as Suburban Day has become an institution which is looked forward to by the residents in the outlying sections of the county, will find many attractive bargains in the way of special merchandise, secured especially for this occasion, in addition to reduced prices on regular merchandise.

Stores Identified

Stores taking part in the special sale day will be identified by banners displayed about the stores, and will also have special advertisements calling attention to the different bargains which are being offered especially for the occasion, in today's News.

While designed particularly to attract the attention of the suburban residents, the sale is by no means confined to them and thrifty New Castle housewives have found that they can buy advantageously on this occasion and eagerly look forward to the event.

Merchants have put just a little extra effort and attention on Thursday's sale and for this reason, it is expected to prove more than the usual success and to attract more buyers than similar sales in the past.

Delay Final Action On P.S.C. 'Ripper Bill'

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 10.—The Republican-controlled public service commission today was assured of existing as a government entity beyond March 15, the date the administration had hoped to "rip" it out of office.

Acceding to a request of C. J. Goodnough, chairman of the commission, Sen. J. Albert Reed, D., Washington, chairman of the senate public utilities committee, announced a hearing will be held on the "ripper" measure which already has passed the house.

"In my opinion," Goodnough wrote to Reed, "this bill can be justified only for the following reasons:

"If the commission has neglected its duties, if the commission is or has been corrupt, if the commission has not exhibited proper zeal in the public interest.

Ask For Hearing.

"To the end that you and your committee may have first hand information as to what the commission has done, also that you or members of your committee may further enlighten yourselves as to the activities of the commission during the past four or five years

Loyalists Start Surprise Attack

Action Occurs Along Edge Of West Park In City Of Madrid

CHARGE ITALIANS ARE AIDING REBELS

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, March 10.—Striking back fiercely at rebel troops tightening their siege on Madrid, loyalist forces today unleashed a surprise attack on insurgent positions along the edge of the capital's West Park.

The sound of booming heavy artillery awakened residents of the city. The guns roared for 45 minutes.

Report Italians Aiding.

Meanwhile, General Jose Miaja, commander of the forces defending Madrid, in a radio broadcast claimed four Italian prisoners captured in the Guadalajara sector had revealed 15,000 Italians are aiding the insurgent assault there.

"The rebels first appealed to Moors, then to Germans, now to slaves of Mussolini," said Miaja with biting sarcasm. "We shall treat them as they have treated others."

A rebel communique broadcast from Salamanca said the rebels are now only 16 miles from Guadalajara and have made further advances on the Jarama front in pursuit of a maneuver to form a junction with the northeast insurgent forces and thus completely encircle the city.

Fighting Continues.

A loyalist communique issued at Bilbao said fighting on the Oviedo front continued, with leftists repelling rebel efforts to regain lost ground.

Reports from Barcelona said insurgents on the Oviedo front, using all available resources, attacked a number of villages, launching their fiercest assault on Pando. There, it was claimed, the rebels were mowed down by leftist machine guns as they reached the government barbed wire entanglements, leaving many dead.

Government authorities said insurgent losses were heavy in the Guadalajara battle as loyalist troops

President Charges Court Of Usurping Legislative Powers In "Fireside Chat"

CERTAIN JUSTICES ARE ACCUSED

Roosevelt Asserts Need For Change In Court Makeup Needed At Once

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON March 10.—President Roosevelt burned his bridges behind him on the judiciary issue today, and went to the country with a bold, fighting speech in which he criticized the supreme court for usurping legislative powers, and accused certain justices of blindly obstructing social and economic advancement for the whole people.

Many presidents, Jefferson and Jackson and Lincoln, have differed violently with the court in years past, but no president in history ever delivered such a withering indictment of it as Mr. Roosevelt carried to the nation in the second of his radio appeals.

Of the court as an institution, he said, he had as much veneration and respect as anyone, but it has, notably in the last four years:

". . . Improperly set itself up as a third house of congress—a super-legislature—as one of the justices had called it—reading into the constitution words and implications which are not there, and which were never intended to be there."

Princeton Youth Dies In Accident

Crushed Between Truck And Trailer In Accident Near Prospect

GEORGE CARAVASIOS AGED 17, IS VICTIM

Caught between a truck and trailer which were being pinned together at the side of the New Castle-Butler highway a quarter of a mile this side of Prospect, a 17-year-old Princeton youth, George Nicholas Caravasios, was crushed to death at 4 o'clock this morning.

Young Caravasios and his employer, Charles Blair, also of Princeton, were enroute from Butler to Cleveland early this morning with a truck load of steel for the J. Miller Company of Cleveland when they came upon another truck parked at the side of the road apparently needing help.

They stopped to give assistance and found the driver of the truck, Chris Watt, of Portersville, and the owner, E. W. Allison of Princeton, trying to hook up a four-wheel trailer to the truck and semi.

Caravasios Crushed

In some manner Caravasios got between the four-wheeler and semi and the latter drifted back upon him, crushing his body and causing internal injuries that proved fatal, a short time later. Immediately after the accident he was rushed to the office of a Prospect physician

Cafe Proprietor Shot And Killed In Cleveland, O.

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, March 10.—While several customers looked on, Frank Mahnich, 40-year-old cafe proprietor, was shot and killed today by a bandit who robbed him of $2,000 and fled in a hail of gunfire.

The slayer, who made his escape in a car driven by a companion, was believed to have been wounded by shots fired by a special policeman who attempted to halt him after the shooting.

Mahnich was kille when he started upstairs for a shotgun as the bandit picked up a cigar box containing $1,400 with which Mahnich expected to cash checks for employes of a nearby steel company.

The slayer fled after picking up another cigar box containing $400. A lieutenant of the Otis Steel Co., police, fired several shots at the auto in which the gunman made his escape.

Local Strike Is Still Unsettled

Offer Of General Increase Of Fifteen Per Cent Is Made By National Pants Company

SOME CONFERENCES HAVE BEEN HELD

Following a conference which started this morning and lasted until about 12:45 this afternoon, announcement was made that no settlement had been reached in the wage controversy between employes of the National Pants Company and their employes, who have been engaged in a sit-down strike since Saturday morning.

An adjournment was taken early this afternoon when no agreement was reached and the conference is expected to be resumed later.

Offer Increase

In answer to the demands of the sit-down strikers at the local plant of the National Pants Company, J. Alpert, one of the plant owners, and H. M. Zucker, who is associated with Mr. Alpert in an effort to settle the difference between the employes and the company heads, today handed employes an answer to their demands, in which they offer a fifteen per cent general increase in wages and a reduction in hours from 44 to 42 hours per week. They also promise a readjustment of all low rates existing at present.

The demands made upon company officials yesterday included a twenty per cent increase in wages and reduction in hours from 44 to 40 per week.

Minor Demands

In addition, there were several minor demands which included reinstatement of Joseph Kaproutis, who had been dismissed from employment with the company last week, and assurrance that money would not be taken from their pay for past controversies. These minor demands were agreed to by the company officials.

An answer to the company's proposals is asked by 5 o'clock this evening, as the company officials are anxious to get the matter settled and return to the home office in New York City.

In their offer to the plant employes, they state that they will not

Citizens Pay Tribute To Bernard Hanlon

New Castle citizens paid their tribute to Bernard N. Hanlon Tuesday night in The Castleton hotel when a testimonal dinner was held. The occasion was the recent selection of Mr. Hanlon as state deputy for Pennsylvania for the Knights of Columbus.

It was something a trifle out of the ordinary in the way of testimonial dinners. Gathered about the board were men of all religious, political and fraternal faiths, men of affairs and ordinary citizens all of them attracted there by a common cause, their friendship for Mr. Hanlon.

Dinner At Seven-Thirty

Following an invocation by Rev. John J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, the guests sat down to a banquet that did credit to Thomas M. Boyle, manager of The Castleton. For the occasion his chefs had prepared his now famous "deboned chicken" a Castleton secret and with that bounteous portions of everything that go to make up such a banquet.

There was little speech making there being but two and the honor guest. Judge James A. Chambers, president judge of the Lawrence County courts was the principal speaker and in his address he paid homage to Mr. Hanlon that will be remembered by every one present for a long time.

"I want to congratulate Mr. Hanlon upon his honor" said Judge Chambers, "but I want to congratulate the Knights of Columbus also

Lewis And Green Labor Battle On

New Order In Organized Labor Breaks Completely With Old

BOTH FACTIONS IN MOVE TO EXPAND

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Organized labor in America today saw the new order break completely with the old.

John L. Lewis entered the national organization field with a brand new setup of his committee for industrial organization—a setup specifically identical to and rivalling the American Federation of Labor.

The gloves are off. From now on it is battle, with the Lewis industrial forces out to win every worker in America, and with the 50 years old craft union American Federation of Labor fighting for its very life.

It is the new theory of one big union for each big industry against the old guard leaders who believe in union by crafts.

Simultaneously with its decision to formally set up as a structural rival of the A. F. of L. the CIO launched two organization drives—in the textile and oil industries. John Lewis announced that the CIO will give every aid, financial and organizational, that is needed to carry these forward, and revealed that the textile drive will operate on a national scale, with headquarters in New York City.

Final Break.

The final break came when the CIO, meeting here, voted to set itself up formally as a national labor body, and to issue certificates of affiliation to international, national, state, regional, city central bodies and local groups. Boldly, the Lewis forces announced they did not even

Governor Murphy Hopes To Settle Detroit Strikes

Michigan Governor Is Returning From Vacation In Florida Today

STRIKE SITUATION LITTLE CHANGED

Bone Of Contention Is Exclusive Bargaining Right—Many Small Strikes Occur

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(International News Service) Correspondent

DETROIT, March 10.—Governor Frank Murphy was en route from Florida today to take a hand in efforts to bring about a settlement of the strike involving 85,000 men in the Chrysler, Hudson and other plants. He was due in Detroit this evening.

The governor, whose success as a mediator in the recent General Motors strike drew warm praise from President Roosevelt, cut short his vacation in Palm Beach to cope with the new emergency.

Wants To Be Available.

"I want to be available in case I can be of any help in settling the trouble," he told his sister, Mrs. William Teahan, in a telephone conversation just before he boarded a train. He had intended to fly but weather conditions made it impossible.

Strikers held complete control of the nine plants of the Chrysler corporation and the two of the Hudson company. No disturbances of any kind happened through the night. Sit-downers in the plants were reasonably comfortable but pickets at the fatcory gates shivered in the cold.

Both sides in the controversy were deadlocked, with the main issue hinging on the union demand that the United Automobile Workers of America be recognized as the sole bargaining agency for the employes of the strike-bound plants.

Resume Conferences.

Conferences between representatives of the Chrysler and Hudson corporation and union officials representing the UAW and John L. Lewis' CIO were to be resumed today.

Union officials agreed that, beginning today, they will allow office

Attorney General Cummings Gives First Testimony

Stresses Four Points In Support Of President's Court Proposal

LARGE CROWD AT FIRST HEARING

Senate Judiciary Committee Opens Hearings On Court Measure

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Declaring 'new blood' is needed on the supreme court to curb its usurpation of legislative authority, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings today recommended prompt congressional enactment of President Roosevelt's judicial reform program.

Cummings testified before the senate judiciary committee, opening public hearings on the presidential plan.

Huge Crowd Present

A huge crowd of sight-seers jammed the high-cellinged, marble walled caucus room in the senate office building as Cummings bespoke congressional favor for the president's proposal to enlarge the high court.

Cummings denied there was any danger of dictatorship in the presidential plan. Instead, he said, it would give back to congress its power to enact legislative remedies for the nation's economic and social ailments.

HOUSE PASSES "RIPPER" BILL

Would Replace P. S. Commission

Vote Cast On Measure Is Straight Party Ballot Of 149-49

OTHER ACTION IN LEGISLATURE

By A. NORMAN GAGE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 10.—The legislature displayed a sharp change of pace today as the senate moved to proceed more slowly with bills which went through the house of representatives at break-neck speed.

House-approved bills to levy $68,500,000 of new taxes and rip out the Republican-controlled public service commission awaited committee action in the senate while the house, relaxing at the end of another week, was set to give final approval to $93,000,000 more taxes.

House Passes Ripper

Democratic forces in the house apparently reached the peak of their tenth week drive late yesterday afternoon when the PSC "Ripper" was passed finally by a straight party vote of 149-49. Republican leaders, debating in the face of inevitable defeat by the administration two-thirds majority, denounced the bill as a "flagrant attempt to seize offices now held by Republicans" and to give Gov. George H. Earle control over a commission which is "not an agency of the executive." Democratic spokesmen paused only long enough to emphasize that the bill carries out the party's campaign pledges.

Rushed to the senate, the "Ripper" failed to interfere with the calm routine of that branch. Contrary to predictions of house Democrats, the senate did not prolong its session to permit committee action and first reading of the bill.

The measure lay in committee when the senate quit for the day, keeping company with tax bills which had been speeded through the house Monday night.

Senate Action

As its most important contributions to the legislative day, the senate passed finally the house-approved resolution paving the way for a popular vote on the elimination of five-year restrictions on constitutional amendments. Coincidentally, another resolution, proposing a constitutional amendment permitting graduated income and other excise taxes, came from committee.

Final house action on the balance of Governor Earle's $161,300,000 program of new taxes was delayed by debates over miscellaneous administration measures which went to the senate by the customary heavy majorities.

for their good judgment in selecting him. My mind goes back to another New Castle man who has held the same office, Leo Griffiths, and it is a pretty compliment to New Castle that two of her citizens should have been chosen for the high distinction."

"I have known Mr. Hanlon for many years. As the internal revenue agent here, when the law was new, he was kindly, helpful and courteous. He did much to aid the lawyers in the application of the new act and he indicated to me then his true nature. His organization has made no mistake in his selection. He is fitted both by temperament and ability to handle the affairs of the office and we all wish him abundant success in his work."

J. Russell Urmson

To J. Russell Urmson was assigned the task of presenting Mr. Hanlon with a handsome travelling bag. Mr. Urmson did it graciously, in the manner he does things so well. Interspersing a few witty recollections Mr. Urmson also dwelt upon the responsibilities of the new office and prophesied that Mr. Hanlon would discharge them with fidelity.

"This is a token of our esteem for you" said Mr. Urmson turning to Mr. Hanlon. "Use it in your work and remember every time you use it that it represents in a small way the fine feeling of friendship that goes with it from this host of friends gathered here tonight."

Mr. Hanlon responded to the two addresses, but truth to tell it wasn't such a speech as he usually makes. The emotion of the moment was a bit too much. He did express his heartfelt thanks for the honor and said that he would always carry with him the memory of the pleasant evening.

During the service of the dinner instrumental music was provided by E. E. Branstetter and Peter Sparano, a piano and violin being used. Bart Richards acted as toastmaster.

The unique affair was brought to a close by the benediction of Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Doerr, pastor of St. Joseph's church.

ATTORNEY GENERAL CUMMINGS GIVES FIRST TESTIMONY

stitutional amendment, he declared is too slow, too uncertain and too possible of defeat by minority in but 13 states.

Sees Four Needs

Cummings began by declaring the president's plan was based upon four fundamental "propositions." He listed these as:

"A. The impossible situation created by the reckless use of injunctions in restraining the operation of federal laws.

"B. The presence on the federal bench of aged or infirm judges.

"C. The crowded condition of the federal dockets, the delays in the lower courts, and the heavy burden imposed upon the supreme court.

"D. The need of an effective system for the infusion of new blood into the judiciary."

Cummings stressed the need of "new blood" and a "new viewpoint" on the supreme court. He said:

"The need of new blood in the body politic, in business, in industry, in government, in the judiciary, is at least as great as in the living organism of nature. Why does this obvious fact bother some of our citizens? Perhaps because, amid a changing world, we like to imagine that we are unchanging. There is also the motion that the "law" is as fixed and as absolute as the multiplication table.

"On the contrary the constitution was not intended to be a code of law but was meant to be a general framework within which each generation might work out its problems in orderly fashion. In the words of the great Chief Justice Marshall, the constitution was 'intended to endure for ages to come, and consequently, to be adapted to the various crises of human affairs'."

Cummings cited a number of cases, some of which were 5 to 4 decisions, in which he claimed the high court invaded the legislative power of congress. He declared divided opinions in themselves constituted an encroachment upon congressional powers, charging such opinions on their face inferred the assailed laws were constitutional beyond a "reasonable doubt."

It is the hope of those in charge that the combined influences of these services that have meant so much for other centers will be largely supported and attended with great blessing to this city.

sprayed the rebels with a steady stream of machine gun and anti-tank gun fire.

Four times the rebels attacked, and each time the famous loyalist dynamiters hurled ignited charges of dynamite under the caterpillar wheels of the rebel tanks, blowing them to bits.

Stem Rebel Offensive

Madrid, March 10.—Government reinforcements, rushed up to the Guadalajara front, today stemmed a two-day rebel offensive and saved Madrid from a fresh threat of isolation.

Col. Juan Rojo, chief of the general staff, described the situation on the Guadalajara sector as "satisfactory," and Gen. Jose Miaja, supreme commander of the capital's defensive forces, went to the front to take charge of a counter-offensive.

Artillery and tanks accompanied Loyalist infantry in the quick dash to Guadalajara, forcing the enemy to retire to positions they had left yesterday.

The rebels' reverse marked their fourth failure to capture or cut off Madrid, previous offensives coming from the west, from Las Rozas, and the Jarama sector. Generalissimo Francisco Franco has been attempting to find the weakest spot in the loyalist lines, but each time Gen. Miaja has been able to bolster his defenses in time.

LEWIS AND GREEN LABOR BATTLE ON

intend to build new organizations "unless it was necessary". They are ready to take over such A. F. of L. affiliates as care to join them, bodily, as is.

This momentous announcement broke every remaining tie between Lewis and the A. F. of L. which less than a year ago suspended him and the eight unions then in the CIO. President William Green of the federation publicly recognized the break.

"It was clearly evident from the beginning that this objective would be finally reached," Green observed. "Now it has come. We are ready to meet it."

And Lewis revealed plainly the CIO expected no quarter from the A. F. of L. and would give none.

Apparently, the federation will counter the Lewis moves first of all with either a meeting of its executive council or a special convention, authorized at its national convention last November in Tampa. At that time the convention confirmed the council's suspension of the CIO, and directed Green to call a special convention at a later date if it became necessary to take further action with regard to the Lewis forces.

Secret Conferences.

A. F. of L. opposition for the moment headed up in secret conferences which Vice-President John P. Frey held in Pittsburgh with employe representatives of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company. Federation leaders hoped these employe representatives would decide to break away from company affiliations and enter the A. F. of L. in a campaign to offset Lewis' organization drive in steel.

Against all of these moves, Lewis will move with his new setup to enlist membership in all basic industries. He was in New York today, where conferences with soft coal operators over the new wage contract between the United Mine Workers and the operators were under discussion. Green, meanwhile sped to Chicago, where he will make an address tonight.

The CIO textile drive will be headed by Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and the United Textile Workers, headed by Francis J. Gorman, will be the medium for the organization program. A board of advisers was named, including officers of the United Mine Workers and other CIO unions.

The oil industry drive will be headed by Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical Union, and the oil field, gas well and refinery workers' union will be the organization medium.

The CIO also voted to extend financial and moral support for a drive in the shipbuilding industry.

DELAY FINAL ACTION ON P. S. C. 'RIPPER BILL'

by asking such questions as may be considered pertinent, I will welcome an opportunity to appear before your committee for the purpose mentioned."

Previous plans were to have the "ripper" pass the senate finally on Monday night, the date provided for in the bill, and then sent to the governor who would immediately nominate the five members to a new public utilities commission.

The latest development will necessitate amending the bill for a later effective date.

ENJOYABLE PROGRAM AT HIGHLAND CHURCH

A delightful evening's program was offered by the Unit 4 ladies of Naomi Circle following a dinner in Highland United Presbyterian church Tuesday evening.

The "amateur program" idea was used, with the performers giving their numbers behind a screen and heard by the audience through a "radio" in the home of an elderly couple, Frank Schiek and Doris Marvin in disguise.

Jack Ligo was master of ceremonies. Several lovely numbers were offered by a group of talented harmonica players from Benjamin Franklin junior high school's well known harmonica band. Readings were given by Betty Jane Cope and Doris Marvin.

"The Highlanders" quartet contributed several numbers as did a trio, Grace and Ellen Miles and Ione Farver. Solos were given by Dorothy Gormley Smith, Grace Miles and Leonard Kisthart, and some excellent imitations by Harold Boak.

Would-be soloists who received the gong, Mrs. Harold Boak, Mrs. C. J. Streib, Mrs. Ward Reimold, Dr. Jay L. Reed, Irvine Balph and Ralph Davis, furnished a light note to the program.

Accompanists were Mrs. Russell Muder and Mrs. Ruth Flannery.

Much credit goes to the unit, of which Mrs. C. J. Streib is leader, to the performers, and to Mrs. June Bernard who was chairman of the program.

M. Y. O. B. Postponed

It was announced today that the meeting of the M. Y. O. B. club which was scheduled for the home of Mrs. Matilda Owens, 17½ North street, on Thursday evening, has been postponed until March 26. The place of meeting will be announced later.

ANNUAL Y. L. B. BANQUET AND ELECTION EVENT

Annual banquet and election of officers for Y. L. B. members of the Third U. P. church, was held in the church dining room Tuesday evening with guests numbering a hundred and upwards, participating. Mrs. Ethel Bates will head the organization this year as president.

Serving was in progress at 6:30 o'clock, the group being seated at long tables cleverly decorated in a theme of blue and gold. Clusters of flowers added further to the attractiveness of the setting. The appetizing menu was prepared and served by members of the Open Door class. Throughout this period, pep singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Anna McLure leading.

A beautiful tribute was paid to two of their deceased members, Mrs. Ruth McCowan and Mrs. Elizabeth Cartwright, this being conducted in a most impressive manner by Mrs. Floyd Moore.

The latter had charge of the program given during the balance of the evening. Those taking part, included the following: Helen Jackson, who pleased with two vocal solos; with Blanche Coulter at the piano; Mrs. Sarah Wilson, the teacher, was given a toast by Mrs. Edna Lutz; a toast to the president, Mrs. Sue McKnight, was given by Mrs. Faye Minnick; piano solo was contributed by Miss Kathryne Newbury; toast to the Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, pastor, was given by Mrs. Martha Williams in behalf of those gathered; special music was given by Mrs. Sue McKnight; John Kyle gave a vocal number, with his sister, Jane Kyle, accompanist; Rev. Yeates, gave remarks. A playlet entitled "Another Beginning" followed, with Mary McLaughlin, Betty Jane Hulme and James Cavell, enacting character parts.

Mrs. Sarah Wilson, later presented Mrs. Blanche Coulter with a lovely gift in behalf of the class, as a remembrance when she soon takes up permanent residence at Prospect.

A short business period concluded activties, with an election of officers taking place. Those serving this year, are; president, Mrs. Ethel Bates; vice-president, Mrs. Rhoda Dombaugh; recording secretary, Mrs. Martha Williams; correspondent secretary, Mrs. Edna Douglas; treasurer, Mrs. Faye Minnick; press reporter; Mrs. Carrie Hemminger; teacher, Mrs. Sarah Wilson; substitute teacher, Mrs. Chester T. R. Yeates.

MRS. H. STURDEVANT HOSTESS TO OFFICERS

Mrs. Harry Sturdevant, Morton street, who recently went out of office as president of the East Side Garden Club, was a charming hostess Tuesday afternoon to those who served as officers under her, at an informal party.

The event was featured with a 1 o'clock luncheon, the table being attractively appointed in pastel tints of orchid and green, and a bouquet of spring flowers adorned the center. After partaking of the menu, served by the hostess and her sister, Mrs. Paul Allen, the time was spent socially.

Huge Throng Of Women Witnesses Style Show

May we cast aside newspaper etiquette and pause right here in the beginning to present compliments to the Business and Professional Women's Club, Sr.?

Any club that can give such a lovely party as B. P. W. did Tuesday night in the Elks ballroom and for such a noble purpose is deserving of commendation and respect from the entire community.

Five Hundred Attend

This organization, as leader among service clubs of New Castle ever since the World War days, scored another triumph last night when it entertained 500 women at a brilliant style show and card party and saw to it that every last person had a good time.

And what is more, every penny realized from the sale of tickets and rental of the bingo corn kernals has been turned over to the club's clinic fund, a nice tudy sum to be used exclusively for the purchase of eyeglasses for underprivileged school children.

Naturally, the big feature of last night's party was the spring style revue and for that the club can thank New Castle's Strouss-Hirshberg Company and its management. The company had entire charge of this part of the entertainment and did a fine job of it, as usual.

Clothes are really different this spring and the "preview" last night gave the throng of women an idea of just what to expect. In the words of Wilfred R. Short, the announcer:

Fashion Goes Feminine

"Clothes had to be different this spring, because you yourself have changed. Poise is your by-word now, femininity your goal, serene assurance your attitude. Now everything you wear and do reflect the change to charm and beauty—to formal, gracious manners. The careless mode is dead—the casual aggressive woman is passe...for fashion has gone romantic and feminine."

The graceful models of the evening were Mrs. Ruth Mariacher Clarke, Mrs. R. S. Marquis, Mrs. J. G. Rudolph, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. W. A. Pond, Mrs. G. E. Wright (the former Gertrude Wolf) and Miss D. N. Bradford.

And just as much interest was centered on the sweet little modelettes, Patty Jo Leyde, Donna June Allen, Mary Louise Ward and Grace Louise Short.

Music was furnished by the following young musicians from the New Castle senior high school orchestra, Martha Black, Charleine Bates, Estelle Waldman, David Galasso and Vance Dufford.

A large part of the crowd departed from the ballroom at the close of the revue but there were still enough women to place 80 tables of bridge in play. A prize was given at the close to the high scorer at each table.

The two principal prizes of the evening were won by Miss Eleanor LeFevre, New Castle's new Girl Scout director, and Mrs. W. M. Klutz, also of this city.

Workers Deserve Credit

The success of the evening reflects much credit on Miss Mary Bigley, general chairman, her finance committee and numerous special aides. It is likely, too, that the B. P. W. president, Mrs. Hazel Boyd, had much to do with the affair, for she always lends a competent, helpful hand, and it is largely due to her influence that the club has had continued success in everything it undertakes.

AMERICAN HOME GROUP GUESTS AT NE-CA-HI

American Home Department members of the Woman's club, enjoyed an unusual and especially interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon, when they met for luncheon at the New Castle high school, when the girls of the Home Economics Department under the supervision of Mrs. Viola Healy, presided as hostesses.

The girls making a study of home cooking and sewing, prepared and served a delicious luncheon at 10 o'clock in the dining room of their department at a table attractively appointed in emerald green. A bouquet of spring flowers formed the centerpiece and places marked for 35.

Mrs. J. J. Fisher, of the American Home group, introduced Mrs. Viola Healy, instructress, who responded with a short talk on "The Home Economics Department of New Castle High." She in turn, presented each of the girls in charge, who so capably performed their appointed duties. They talked briefly on the following subjects, the first being Miss Ellen Campbell, who told interesting details on "Home Projects." Second was Miss Miriam Clinefelter, who chose for her subject, "Foods." Miss Anna Caball spoke on "Clothing," while Miss Nadine Rodenbaugh related facts concerning "Other Projects of Home Economics." Miss Elizabeth Slaver concluded this feature with a short discussion on "Child Care and Home Nursing."

Contributing further to the afternoon's pleasures, the girls of the department gave a style show, modeling house coats, dresses for all occasions, suits and other garments which they completed. Miss Mary Louise Duff played the piano accompaniment.

On April 13 the regular meeting of the American Home members will be held, the place to be announced.

TUESDAY CLUB GROUP LUNCHEON GUESTS

Mrs. Glenn Weber, Wallace avenue, opened her home Tuesday afternoon to the members of the Tuesday Bridge club when they gathered for their regular meeting.

Promptly at 1 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess. Afternoon hours were spent in playing bridge with prizes going to Mrs. Frank Taylor and Mrs. H. H. Halley. One special guest, Mrs. P. J. Perry enjoyed the club meeting and was awarded a prize.

Next meeting will be announced later.

N. K. Club Tonight.

Members of the N. K. club will meet tonight in the home of Miss Alice Slack, Sheridan avenue.

DINNER EVENT OF A. U. R. MEMBERS

The March meeting of the A. U. R. Girls of the Central Presbyterian church took place Monday evening in the form of a chill dinner in the church dining room, with Mrs. Emerson McGuire and Mrs. J. F. Walters as hostesses.

While the guests were still at the table the names of last year's "capsule sisters" were disclosed. Adjourning to the parlor, a business meeting was conducted with Mrs. Kenneth Peterson leader. Miss Belle Offutt was in charge of the foreign topic and Miss Gladys Lewis of the national topic. Miss Lewis read a letter from Linda Seymour and Miss Margaret Lowery read another letter from Mrs. Richard Crooks, foreign missionaries.

Mrs. C. B. Wingerd installed the officers elected at the February meeting. The new president, Mrs. Thelma Propst, appointed the following helpers: program, Mrs. Lewis Rudesill, Catherine Lowery and Mrs. M. Battley; reporter, Alisan Leslie; secretary of literature, Mrs. J. F. Walters.

Mrs. J. W. Offutt was a special guest.

MEDICAL AUXILIARY MEETING THURSDAY

Quite an elaborate program has been arranged for the regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Medical association which will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Howard C. Harper, 211 East Wallace avenue.

The guest speaker of the day will be Dr. Elizabeth Veach, of the Overlook Sanitarium, New Wilmington. She will speak on, "Psychological approach to Everyday Problems in a Doctor's Life". In addition to this talk, Katherin Bittner will render several violin numbers, accompanied at the piano by Isabelle Johnson.

MOUNTING FEDERAL PAYROLL

CITIZENS who are now wrestling with the complexities of their income tax, which must be reported by Monday, and wondering why it has increased so greatly, will be interested in the latest official report of the Federal payroll. It shows an addition of 103,524 Government employes within a year.

The astounding figure of 829,794 civil employees—the Army, Navy, Congress and the courts are not included—represents one payroller for each 153 of the Nation's population. The cost is equivalent to a tax of $40 a year on each family unit.

The Administration's long-postponed Government reorganization program puts so-called efficiency first, with economy far in the rear. But elimination of the overlapping and duplicating agencies should surely result in a reduction of the payroll brigade. For the plea of an emergency can no longer prevail.

THE CONSTITUTION

It is hardly too strong to say that the Constitution was made to guard the people against the dangers of good intentions, real or pretended. ... The are men in all ages who mean to exercise power usefully—but who mean to exercise it. They mean to govern well; but they mean to govern; they promise to be kind masters, but they mean to be masters. They think they need but little restraint upon themselves. Their notion of the public interest is apt to be quite closely connected with their own exercise of authority. They may not, indeed, always understand their own motives. The love of power may sink too deep in their own hearts even for thir own security and may pass with themselves for mere patriotism and benevolence.—Daniel Webster.

WILSON ON LIBERTY

In connection with the current controversy over packing the Supreme Court, it might be well for the American people to reconsider a statement once made by Woodrow Wilson under somewhat similar circumstances. Said this distinguished Democrat:

"The history of liberty is a history of the limitation of governmental power, not the increase of it. When we resist, therefore, the concentration of power, we are resisting the processes of death, because the concentration of power is what always precedes the destruction of human liberties."

If the Supreme Court were to come under the domination of either the President or Congress, or both, there would be an extremely hazardous focus of governmental authority opening the way to irresponsible dictatorship.

Supporters of the President insist that Mr. Roosevelt himself has no such aim in mind. But it is a question whether the American people should endorse a basic change that would at least make possible the introduction of personal autocracy.

SIMPLER INCOME TAX FORMS NEEDED

Those citizens—and their name is legion—who put off their income tax computation until the second week of March is pushing hard upon deadline day, are now suffering the pains of their annual affliction, puzzling brains and scratching pads as they labor upon their returns.

In the midst of this travail it cannot but occur to most of the computers that simplified tax forms would make the bitter dose of tax payments much easier to swallow. Forcing the taxpayer to weave his bewildered way through a labyrinth of obscureiy phrased schedules and instructions, to end up at the bottom of the page with a figure of which he is not too sure, seems to be rubbing it in rather hard. Extracting some of the vagueness from the explanations would not make tax-paying painless, but it would lessen the number of aspirin tablets required in the process of filling out returns.

To tax experts and accountants the present forms may be clear as crystal. But to many citizens the explanations relating to taxable income, exemptions, deductions and computation are not easily comprehensible. More explicit terms and clearer instructions would be helpful. "If his net income is more than $3000 his earned net income shall not be considered to be less than $3000" is a sample of a simple fact wrapped in confusing language.

Fewer mistakes in filling out returns and less violent headaches for the citizenry on the eve of March 15 would be two beneficial results of simplification. The first should serve to recommend it to the Treasury Department.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

CHICAGO—Dr. Lin Yutang, Chinese author, says his countrymen are just as strongly individualistic as Americans: "The Chinese have a proverb like your saying that a government governs best which governs least. That is as much our viewpoint as yours, and that is why China will never be a totalitarian state."

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—State Senator James B. Holohan, former San Quentin prison warden, would substitute lethal gas for the gallows: "After all, the purpose of an execution is to remove the convicted person from the ranks of society."

NEW YORK—Nolla Webb, astrologer, tells a convention of beauticians: "The world is going to be more conscious of beauty during the next six years. It has been nearly a hundred years since people have felt the same way."

PRINCETON, N. J.—Dr. Frank Baldwin Jewett, president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, comments on the devlopment of modern industrial science: "We no longer have opportunity to become acquainted with a new thing before its mass impact has confronted us with major problems of social control and legal regulation for which we have no established guides.

LOS ANGELES—Thornton Wilder, novelist, recalls a recent visit to Europe: "In Austria I noted how eagerly the people read Swiss, Dutch and other foreign newspapers for information denied them in Austria's government-controlled press."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LACK OF MEDICAL CARE

When I think of the thousands of fathers and mothers and children who right now need medical and dental care but for lock of money cannot have it—though there are scores of self-sacrificing doctors and dentists who give hours and hours of service without pay, and they must live, too—I wonder about the justice of our social order. When I contemplate the still larger number of parents and children lacking adequate medical and dental care, not because of limited money, but because they do not sense the need, then I wonder about the shortcoming of our public education. When, moreover, I consider the many adolescent children and of wives and husbands, especially of wives, who yearn to have medical and dental care they sorely need, and avoid even mentioning the matter in their family for fear of being considered by some other member of the family as selfish and extravagant, or for fear of being crushed emotionally, I—well, what shall I say?

Generally it is the mother of the family who is most likely to go neglected. Her experiences seem to train her to submit serenely and to exercise self-sacrifice excessively, even when there is above-average expenditure for all other items of the family budget. Think of those scores and scores of mothers who, suspecting a serious affliction creeping upon them, will postpone suggestion that they ought to see a doctor. The outcome? Sometimes it is prolonged suffering or untimely death. Tragic letters come to me—and they almost get me down sometimes—from mothers of this sort; and from adolescents, too. There's so little I can do!

Letter Quoted

In this column I think I have never quoted from a letter that has no signature and address. Today I break this long-honored rule, to print the following, for the good I hope it may do. It is signed, "Worried."

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have a problem that has been worrying me for about two months. I am counting on you to advise me. I think I have tuberculosis. I am 15 years old and very much underweight. I am 5½ feet tall and weigh 95 pounds. These are my reasons for believing I have tuberculosis. I have to clear my throat a lot, can't sleep very well, am underweight, weak, a little nervous and have not any too good appetite. . . . I have never told my mother about my belief. I don't think she would believe me. . . . I worry quite a lot over this and wish you could tell me what to do."

Answer: Not being trained in medicine I could not give you medical advice. But do tell your mother and beg her to take you to a good doctor. If she won't, go yourself and tell him your story. He just couldn't have the heart to turn you away, whether you have money or not. How I wish your mother had a more sympathetic understanding of you, and that you felt you could freely talk to her about anything.

APOLOGY TO AN ANIMAL

A dear friend of mine had a habit of picking up all kinds of strange animals and bringing them home. Stray cats, dogs, birds, it made no odds—she liked them, they liked her, it was a go!

I don't think she ever brought home an eagle or a mountain lion or a rattlesnake, but she would have if she'd found one on the road and it needed her loving care and understanding.

The trouble that was while all her strange visitors liked my mother-in-law, not many of them liked her friends.

I remember the time the star boarder was long, thin, slinky, weasel-shaped critter that we thought might be a stone martin, but we weren't sure.

He loved her. He'd squeak with delight whenever she came around. ...Run up one arm, over her shoulder, down the other arm, play hide-and-go-seek with her, curl up contentedly in her lap and sleep like a healthy baby.

But he didn't like me....And I didn't like his slinky appearance or his sharp teeth. He may have had the sweetest disposition any animal ever had, I didn't like his ways.... He was always lying in wait for me. Trying to scare me....He would rush out from under a couch and up my trousers (inside) and then rush down again....Lots of fun for him. Not any for me....So I was never able to work up any warm affection for him.

If you must know the truth, I never saw that animal without thinking of a fellow in our town who was supposed to be a great joker, with a great sense of humor.. But I never liked him because it always seemed to me that there was malice in his laughing eyes, envy in his humor, cruelty in all his "practical jokes" His wit was like a nettle, his geniality was a cowardly mask. I kept away from him.

That little stone marten couldn't have been one-tenth as wicked as that human being whose laughter was such an unclean weapon....I apologize to the little animal.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:00. Sun rises tomorrow 6:19.

Divorce may now include not only custody of the children, but also of the family pets, according to a decision handed down in a California court, whereby a woman received custody of her three children, and four dogs. She didn't leave friend husband a single thing to remind him of his past life, except his conscience.

March 12th Babies

As has been his custom for many years the Hints and Dints Man will give Five Dollars for all babies born in Lawrence County on the coming March 12. This don't mean any other March 12. Twins will get $15. Quints according to their looks. Proof of birth must be presented at The News office before April 1, 1937. Doctor's certificate is the medium of proof.

While the Five Dollars is given to the parents of the baby, the beauty of this arrangement is that you get to collect the Five Dollars and still keep the baby. This money will be given freely to the parents of any baby entitled to it. Step up and get it. Sometimes people born fifty years ago ask for the money.

Dear Miss Markel—When addressing an envelope to a man, is it always permissible to use the form—John Smith, Esquire, or are there only certain circumstances when this title might be correctly used?
MARGE.

Answer — This title, usually abbreviated "Esq.," is now used broadly to include all men. Although, in its strictest sense, it means "John Smith—gentleman," it is frequently used in addressing men who may not be gentlemen. This title, however, should never be used in addressing formal invitations. It is correct for all other personal letters.

La Guardia's Words Are Hot.
They're Sweet To New Yorkers.
Tamany Tiger Is Depressed.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

TAMMANY IS angry over the attack of Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York on Hutler. The attack gives the fiery little mayor an edge on re-election in November. New York is strongly anti-Nazi—and not at all strongly anti-Mussolini. La Guardia often attends Italian meetings.

STRONG

La Guardia is strong. He has given New York the best administration it can remember. He is honest, he is progressive, he is stern. He pops off steam a bit too often, perhaps—but that makes him picturesque, keeps him in the public eye.

He is a bit worried now as to whether he will have the tacit Roosevelt support for re-election, or whether the administration will support somebody else against him. If Tammany selects a Farley man, Farley will try to swing administration support to that man. You will recall, there was a Farley "independent" Democrat in the field in 1933, splitting Tammany's vote.

THREATS

Threats of Nazi newspapers to make persons in the United States feel sorry for La Guardia's remarks seem foolish to many. But perhaps the Germans are preparing to "place the blame" once more for impending financial collapse. The tirade against the Americans burst forth just when American creditors learned that the German debt was five times the amount that had been stated. Bondholders in America, and banks involved in the standstill agreement on debts for credits, were shaken considerably.

DARK DAYS

There may be a great hullaboo at the moment over the "increasing prosperity" of the world, but it is becoming apparent that much of it is on borrowed money or badly depreciated money.

That does not help the average person. It does help the speculator, the armament profiteer.

France has removed the penalty against repatriated French capital. Gold again may be bought and sold freely in France. The rich who sent their francs abroad now will be able to bring them back at a profit. The old francs will buy more of the new, cheaper francs.

But French capitalists still fear the French "New Deal", and their money continues to flow to the United States and Great Britain.

NO MOTHERS ALLOWED!

Mexico City is to have "the first congress of fathers in history."

We hear: "It will be held for the purpose of training fathers in their duties to their families, advancing social and cultural education among them, and helping them understand the reason behind the program of Socialist education in effect in Mexico."

MEXICAN NOTE

And here's another news note from Mexico:

"Twenty peasants from the ejidos (communal farms) of the Laguna region will shortly travel to the United States to work in the International Harvester and General Electric plants in order to become familiar with the construction and repair of the modern machinery that is being rapidly installed on the collective farms."

BIG DOG

Mark is a Dane, a dog of mighty size
That wears a look of sadness in his eyes.
He grieves because he suffers many a slap
For wanting to be cuddled in your lap.
Conceived for greatness, under nature's law,
He merely wants mankind to hold his paw.
His greatest pleasure, after being fed,
Is having someone scratch his massive head.

To look at Mark you'd think he was a brute,
An animal to flee from or to shoot;
Yet he so little values strength and size
That if we speak a scolding word, he cries.
His weakness is for friendship. Round about
He runs to visit when we let him out,
And though it seems a most surprising thing
I'll swear at door bells he has learned to ring.

I think it sad a dog should be so kind
And yet so very fearfully designed
That he must miss, so long as he shall live,
The friendship that he tries so hard to give.
His bark is thunder. When he wags his tail
'Tis like the flagellation of a flail,
Yet with true greatness on his way he jogs
And leaves the snarling to the smaller dogs.

Today's Yesterdays—Mar. 10, 222 A. D.—Various Avitus Bassianus, Emperor Helagabalus or Elagebalus, of Rome, was beheaded by the Pretorian Guard, after a 3 year reign characterized by historians as the most infamous in history. He gave a naval spectacle on lakes filled with wine; used as the state carriage a chariot drawn by four tigers; deliberately smothered to death guests with showers of flowers; constructed elaborate baths that he ordered demolished after using them once; spent thousands for costumes that he never wore more than once. His biggest parties had horses as guests of honor.

Mar. 10, 1698—Benjamin Fletcher, governor of New York, and formerly governor of Pennsylvania, purchased a ship, outfitted it, engaged a pirate captain and sent it out on this date to loot shipping for his private gain.

WHY HAVE A CONSTITUTION?

The representatives of the original thirteen states who met in Philadelphia in 1787 to write the Constitution of this Nation were the best representatives gathered together this country has ever had. This remarkable body of men, in eighty-nine days, created as Pitt said, "The most remarkable document of history."

That Constitution has not been improved by any Amendment that has ever been made to it. Perhaps the Bill of Rights that was added to it in the nature of the first Ten Amendments did round out make it a more comprehensive document, but the Bill of Rights enumerated no rights of the people that had not already been established by the Common Law of the colonies. Those earnest men who gathered together in Philadelphia during those eighty-nine days, had in mind the founding of a Government of checks and balances, and there has been no excuse whatsoever for the people of this Nation to ask their Representatives in Congress to deviate from that plan. None but the Opportunist has ever persuaded the people to make any of the radical changes in the Constitution.

The House of Representatives, for instance, was to be a very mobile institution. It was planned that its members were to be the direct creatures of the electorate. Their term of office was limited to two years, because the writers of the Constitution knew how changeable the people of any Nation could be; how waves of prejudice might induce the Representatives to be very foolish for a moment, but their errors could be corrected in another two years, if these errors were permitted to become law.

Further, to check temporary insanity of the House of Representatives, a Senate was created, consisting two two men elected from each of the States, by the State Legislature thereof; thereby insuring a body of men that would not be composed of momentary fanatics. As long as this method of election of the United States Senate was in vogue, the United States Senate was a very fine body of men. They make mistakes—of course they did—but compared to the present Senate, they were immeasureably superior. The Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution was responsible for this change and when the people approved the Seventeenth Amendment, they simply added two direct representatives of the electorate from each state. They might just as well have added them to the House of Representatives, and abolished the Senate, the only difference being that a Senator holds his office for six years instead of two, and he might, as is noticeable today, have a change of heart and consequently, a change of vote during those six years.

The President was given the power of vetoing any Measure that he considered foolish or unwise, but his veto was not absolute:—to over-ride it, it required a two-thirds majority of both Houses of Congress.

In addition to all of this, Federal Courts were created, consisting of District, Circuit and a Supreme Court. These Courts were created for the purpose of acting as a further check upon any fanatical combination of House, Senate and President and now the last suggested amendment to the Constitution, amounts to, practically, empowering the President and the Senate to make up the roster of the Supreme Court and all the other Federal Courts, as well, and tell them what they shall do and what they shall not do.

The Nation really has come to the jumping off place.

DOCTOR WRONG AGAIN

(International News Service)

GRANTS PASS, Ore.—Solomon T. Gage laughs every time he thinks about the way he fooled an insurance company. When he was nineteen years old, Gage was told by an insurance doctor that he was too frail to be granted insurance. The medico even advised him to seek a less rigorous climate while he still had time. Gage desregarded the advice, and so far he has no cause to be sorry—he recently passed his 89th birthday.

'Meanest Thief' Sought By Police

EMMETT, Idaho—Of all the thieves in America, Prosecuting Attorney Thomas Gwilliam is looking for the meanest one.

Gwilliam knows who the meanest one is, even if not by name.

Receipts of $109 collected by Gwilliam from the President's birthday ball, were stolen out of his car while he was in a restaurant.

The prosecutor believes he was followed and promises speedy justice if the "meanest" thief is caught.

Carnegie-Illinois Male Chorus Sings

Fine Program Is Presented At Emmanuel Baptist Church

Not only can the employes of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation make high grade tin plate but they can do a lot of high grade singing, and did so Sunday night when a concert was presented in the Emmanuel Baptist church by the Carnegie-Illinois Male Chorus, a Ladies Chorus and soloists from the mill or from the famflies of mill workers.

The first numbers were "Peace Be Still" and "Keep In The Middle of the Road" by the male chorus directed by William Richards. A bass solo, "Calvary" by Avery Rigby followed. A piano solo "Polechinelle" by Mary Louis Kirkpatrick was enjoyed and this was followed by a soprano solo "The Penitent" by Margretta Hess.

In the second half of the program the ladies chorus sang "Would God I Was A Tender Apple Blossom" and "The Lass With The Delicate Air." Michael Turko followed with the tenor solo, "Trees" and Dorothy Frey sang a contralto solo "O Rest In The Lord". The mixed chorus concluded an evening of thoroughly enjoyable music with "In The Gloaming" and "Swing Along."

The reputation of the New Castle singers has reached out and in a short time they will broadcast their music to the world.

President Says His Budget Must Not Be Exceeded

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 10.—President Roosevelt has bluntly notified members of Congress that appropriations must be kept within his budget.

The President's favorite expression in dealing with appeals for expenditures, it was disclosed today by senators and House members, is, "Find the money within the budget and I'll be with you."

His attitude may provoke a battle in Congress over relief and other appropriations. Powerful groups in both chambers are proposing expenditures which will far exceed the budget estimates given Congress in January.

Hints that additional taxes may be asked if Congress "runs away" with appropriations have been brought from the White House by members conferring with Mr. Roosevelt.

Unless appropriations soar, or tax receipts fail to meet expectations, there will be no tax legislation in the present session other than continuing $500,000,000 in excise taxes, members have been informed. Revision of the corporate surplus tax bill, under present plans, will wait until next year.

"Numbers Writers" Stage Sit-Down

(International News Service)

McKEESPORT, Pa., March 10.—Add new kinds of sitdown strikes. "Numbers" writers here were on a sitdown strike today, their pads and pencils tightly tucked away, because their bosses who took it on the chin for $19,000 when a certain number came up Monday suddenly slashed the odds from 500 to 1 to 100 to 1 in an effort to recoup their losses.

The writers were stung to the quick at such a lack of integrity on the part of their bosses and went on a strike.

SUPREME COURT AGAIN ASSAILED BY ROOSEVELT

invalidated much New Deal legislation by close decisions, he had this to say:

"Our trouble with the court today arises not from the court as an institution, but from human beings within it."

Nothing could have been more pointed with reference to the four—sometimes five or six—of the present bench which knocked many pillars from the New Deal, and in so doing laid down the dictum that congress is without power to legislate on such economically vital subjects as hours, wages, conditions of labor and regulation of agriculture.

At another point, he observed that the plan he has proposd, and for which he proposes to fight, "will save our constitution from hardening of the judicial arteries." This was after he had emphasized that judges should retire at 70 to make way for newer, fresher blood, more attuned to the spirit of the times.

Refers To Crisis.

Again, as before, the president referred to the great economic crisis which he inherited four years ago, and spoke of one of the first of the New Deal's recovery acts—the governmental acquisition of private gold.

"Today's recovery," he said, "proved how right that policy was."

But he reminded the millions listening that when the validity of the gold act came before the court, it was upheld by the narrow squeak of one vote, a 5 to 4 decision.

"The change of one vote," he said, "would have thrown the affairs of this great nation back into hopeless chaos. In effect, four justices ruled that the right under private contract to exact a pound of flesh was more sacred than the main objectives of the constitution to establish an enduring nation."

The earliest objectives of the New Deal, in monetary and banking policy, NRA, and AAA, and other legislation, he asserted, was to safeguard the country against a repetition of the calamity of 1929. Now, he said, we are part way through that program, and recovery is speeding up to a point where "in a year or two the dangers of 1929 are again becoming impossible."

Cites New "Crisis"

"Now," he continued, "we are at a crisis in our ability to proceed with that protection." (Because of judicial interference.)

Pointing out that early in its history the supreme court rarely held legislative acts unconstitutional except in cases "beyond reasonable doubt," he continued:

"Since the rise of the modern movement for social and economic progress through legislation, the court has more and more often and more boldly asserted a power to veto laws passed by the congress and state legislatures in complete disregard of this original limitation.

"In the last four years the sound rule of giving statutes the benefit of all reasonable doubt has been cast aside. The court has been acting not as a judicial body, but as a policy-making body.

". . . A majority of the court has been assuming to pass upon the wisdom of these acts of congress—and approve or disapprove the public policy written into these laws.

"That is not only my accusation. It is the accusation of most distinguished justices of the present supreme court."

Then, Mr. Roosevelt quoted from some of the dissenting opinions in these cases:

Quotes Opinions

Chief Justice Hughes saying in the invalidation of the Railroad Retirement act that the majority opinion was "a departure from sound principles" and "an unwarranted limitation upon the commerce clause." (Three other justices agreed with him).

Justice Stone saying in the outlawing of the AAA that the majority had rendered "a tortured construction of the constitution." (Two other justices agreed with him).

Justice Stone again in the invalidation of the New York Minimum Wage law saying that the majority were actually reading into the constitution their own "personal economic predilections," and that if congress could not legislate to solve the problems of poverty subsistence and health then "government is rendered impotent."

"In the face of these dissenting opinions," said Mr. Roosevelt bluntly, "there is no basis for the claim made by some members of the court that something in the constitution has compelled them regretfully to thwart the will of the people.

Must Take Action

"We have therefore," he continued, "reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the constitution from the court and the court from itself. We want a supreme court which will do justice under the constitution—not over it.

"In our courts we want a government of laws and not of men."

The president declared that like all Americans he wanted an independent judiciary—but a judiciary that "will refuse to amend the constitution by judicial say-so."

Then he defended his own program and replied to his critics. Short of constitutional amendment, a long and tortuous path, in which it is possible for five per cent of the people to block what 95 per cent want, he said, he could see no other way than to infuse the courts with new blood—"Judges who will, retain in the courts the judicial functions of a court, and reject the legislative powers which the courts of today have assumed."

His own plan, he said, would enlarge the court from its present nine members, only if super-annuated judges (over 70) did not elect to retire.

Of the 31 trustees of the Pennsylvania State College, six are appointed by the governor, nine are elected by the alumni, and twelve are elected by delegates from county societies. The governor, superintendent of public instruction, state secretary of agriculture, and the college president are members ex-officio.

Human nature doesn't change, and the first man who played with fire and got burned doubtless blamed his gods.

Seek Settlement Of Steel Strike At Bethlehem, Pa.

Pickets Are Withdrawn From Bethlehem Plant As No Operation Is Attempted

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., March 10.—Bethlehem Steel Corporation officials and CIO organizers continued conferences in an effor to settle the week-old strike at the corporation's local plant with little indication today that the CIO intended to "give ground" before its No. 1 objective—recognition of CIO as bargaining agency of the workers—is attained.

The workers seek a contract with the management modeled after that recently drawn up between the CIO and Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh.

Pickets were withdrawn from the plant and workers attended mass "pep" meetings. A number of picket squads were dispatched to the Steelton plant of the steel company where they milled about employe entrances, passing out literature urging CIO enlistment. Organizers said they saw no use picketing the local plant which employs more than 2500 workers, since the company made no attempts to resume operations.

The Lebanon Wright Iron Company, another focal point of CIO, has announced a 10-cents an hour increase and a 40-hour week for its more than 700 workers. At the same time the Harrisburg Steel Corporation, at Harrisburg, announced that, effective March 16, the company's more than 1,000 workers would go on a 40-hour week with a boost in pay of 10 cents per hour.

New York Rejects Child Labor Ban

ALBANY, N. Y., March 10.—The federal child labor amendment was overwhelmingly defeated in the New York General Assembly Tuesday. The vote was 102 to 42.

Hope of ratification by the state this year was shattered completely when the House immediately killed a motion for later reconsideration, 105 to 38.

GIVES OCCUPATION AS SIT-DOWN STRIKER

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—Edward Harris, a Negro, when asked his "occupation" by the examiner in the local office of the Immigration and Naturalization Bureau, recently, lazily replied, "a sit-down striker."

Harris, appearing as a character witness in behalf of an applicant applying for citizenship was asked by the examiner:

"What is your occupation?"

"I am a sit-down striker," replied the witness.

"What company did you work for?" asked the examiner.

"None," Harris drawled, "I just sit down and don't work."

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Stewart Denies He's Getting Old

Washington Columnist Corrects Alleged Facts About His Life

ADMITS HE'S NO SPRING CHICKEN

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—I don't so much mind having the Literary Digest call me a "lesser" Washington columnist—as it did last week—but I do draw the line on being referred to as 73 years old.

If I'm that old I'm overdue for retiring according to President Roosevelt's supreme court rule, and I'm not eligible to do so on full pay, as per the presidential plan—not yet by some few years.

THE WORLD HIS FIELD

Oh, I'm oldish.

After a generation as a reporter and various kinds of an editor in the United States, from New York to San Francisco, and another generation as a correspondent throughout Europe, Africa, Asia, South America and back again, is it likely that I would be a spring chicken?

No, but, by heck, I'm not 73.

Briefly, I expect to die young; my father died at 97. Phooey on 73, and I'm not within gunshot of it yet.

I'm an "outstanding Washington character", admits the Digest.

Outstanding why? Because I'm 73? A nice compliment, isn't it?

Well, I'm not, by a damsight, 73. So it's no compliment at all.

FIRST COLUMNIST

I will say this:

I invented the "Washington colyum".

There were "colyumnists" before me.

New York had them before my time. O. O. McIntyre, for instance. Who calls him a back number because he preceded me?

It struck me, more than a decade ago, that this town needed a "colyumnist" also. I tried it out. I imitated McIntyre, et al. I admit that I was an imitator. And then, so help me Journalism, other boys began to imitate me—and beat me, maybe, on some things. But my editor says I still knock the socks off the other boys on forecasting what is to occur.

THOSE "YOUNG SQUIRTS"

I will say that these "young squirts" make you slightly tired if you're a veteran.

It may be that their incomes run into the higher brackets.

That is, the incomes of some of them.

I suppose I'll be accused of jealousy.

Still, I can't help but think that the seniority of columnists is largely a matter of "hoo-ey".

In some of 'em it is a matter of good advertising.

In some of 'em, I like to think, it is a matter of mere merit.

It doesn't matter how old I am, anyway.

That question of age is what irritates me anyway.

This is a very personal "colyum": I address it to friends of mine.

STEWART'S COLUMN

Charles P. Stewart has been writing his Washington-at-a-Glance column for Central Press for more than 10 years. Prior to that he represented large wire associations as head of their bureaus in London, Buenos Aires, Tokio and elsewhere throughout the world. Then he "invented" the Washington column, and somewhat later, Central Press "captured" him. His column at present appears in hundreds of papers. In fact, only one or two other Washington columns have anything like the run of Stewart's. It is a column known for its blunt honesty. It takes no sides, is highly admired in Washington for its strict impartiality.

"Stuck In Mud" Strike Latest

Illinois Motorist Has Got "Stuck In Mud" 31 Times, Starts Protest Strike

(International News Service)

JOLIET, Ill., March 10.—Frank Peterlin of this city has developed a new version of the sitdown strike—A "stuck in the mud" strike.

Yesterday Frank was driving his automobile home. Half a block away from his house the car mired, and Frank exploded:

"Thirty-one times since I moved to this street I've had to be towed out. That set me back $62.

"Now I'll sit here until summer if necessary to force street commissioner Sam Shepley to do something about it."

Mrs. Peterlin brought her husband food. Today Frank still was sitting in his car, and the car still was sitting in the mud.

Lions Hear Boyles' Pottery Talk, See Finished Samples

In an interesting demonstration talk Tuesday, John P. Boyles, young Shenango Pottery Company chemist, gave members of the Lions club a more appreciable understanding of the reasons why New Castle's pottery is nationally and even internationally famous.

Mr. Boyles, with a huge boxful of pottery material and valuable samples before him, told the clubmen the story of pottery manufacturing here. The samples were distributed around as the talk progressed.

Members of the Lions' bowling aggregation journeyed last night to Beaver Falls for a match with the Beaver Falls Lions. A number of the members attended the regular Beaver Falls Lions club dinner before the match.

Finger Lines Worn Off Barber's Hands

Unable To Get Fingerprints Of Barber In Springfield Police Station

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 10.—As rare as the Kohinoor diamond, or Dinosaur eggs, are the fingers of Webster R. Lyons, Springfield barber.

In Lyons' case, it is impossible to obtain an impression of his fingerprints.

This unique condition was discovered by Detective William Reuf, in charge of the local police Bertillon department, when Lyons asked the officer to take his prints for civil identification in case of an accident. Reuf declared that he was "astounded" when Lyons prints showed up only as smudges.

Both Lyons and Reuf attribute the loss of finger lines to the fact that Lyons has worn his fingertips smooth by massaging beards. The hair stubble had gradually pumiced off the finger lines, both declare.

PROFITABLE INVESTMENT

(International News Service)

MALTA, Mont.—An investment of $3 in a secondhand kitchen cabinet at an auction sale proved highly profitable for E. McFarland of Cole, Mont. In one of the drawers of the cabinet he found $650 in currency. The battered piece of furniture had belonged to James Wilson, an eccentric recluse reputed to have hidden money about his house. Following Wilson's death, however, officers who searched the house found no money.

Denies That Dams Were Big Factors In Causing Floods

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—An emphatic denial was made Tuesday by the chief of the U. S. Engineering Corps here that navigation dams in the river were a factor in producing the record-breaking stages experienced in the last two years.

"Observation of flood levels made by the United States Engineers at various points along the river indicate that the navigation dams had a negligible effect at any point during the high stages," said Lt. Col. W. E. R. Covell, district engineer of the U. S. Engineers here in a statement issued today.

"The record floods of 1936 and 1937 cannot be ascribed to any extremely unusual circumstances or to any changes that have been made in the drainage system of the country, stated Covell, "floods depend primarily upon the magnitude and distribution of rainfall or snowfall and the combination circumstances that may produce major floods may be of infinite variety."

Large Fruit Crop Expected In Ohio

Unless Heavy Frosts Occur, Ohio Will Have Bumper Crop This Year

(International News Service)

KENTON, O., March 10.—Prospects for a bumper fruit crop this year are good in this section, local growers believe.

The optimistic report was made despite concern in some quarters that the unseasonably warm weather experienced during the last two months had advanced the budding stage to a point where freezing weather might prove disastrous.

The budding stage has not yet reached a point where cold weather will be dangerous, growers here said.

Sub-zero weather in January and February last year ruined practically the entire fruit crop in Hardin and surrounding counties, but this condition is not expected to repeat this year. The favorable prospects are expected to continue unless bad frosts occur after the trees bud and blossom.

Rolling Mill Boosts Wages

(International News Service)

MIDDLETOWN, O., March 10.—An increase of 10 cents an hour for employes working on an hourly basis effective March 14, was announced by the American Rolling Mill company. Wage increases for other employes may be announced soon and the company is discussing with workers' representatives an adjustment of working hours, Charles R. Hook, president, said.

The increase granted hourly employes will boost the Armco annual payroll $3,000,000 a year, he added, and will affect 14,000 employes at Middletown, Hamilton and Zanesville, O; Butler, Pa., and Ashland, Ky.

Mother, Baby And Doctor All Die In Hospital Delivery

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Ind., March 10—Three persons were dead today in a tragedy of childbirth that took the lives of a young mother, her unborn child and the attending physician.

A heart atack caused Dr. Charles F. Hope to fall dead beside the bed while he was attempting to deliver the first child of 18 year old Mrs. Roy Boyd.

Dr. E. E. Long, assisting in the delivery, bent over Dr. Hope, and determined that he was dead of a heart attack, turned back to Mrs. Boyd to find that she and her baby had died of shock.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

LAQUIN

Do you know that Laquin, in Bradford county, is being known as a "ghost town" because of the gradual disappearing of what was once a busy little village?

Laquin sprang up as a town very rapidly in 1902 when a large lumber mill was erected by Watson L. Barclay and Thomas H. Quinn. From the names Barclay and Quinn the name "Laquin" was formed and a United States post office was established.

At that time this saw mill was reputed to be the largest in the United States. After the timber in that immediate region was exhausted, the mill was moved into another state. Today only five houses remain. A. C. C. C. camp is located here. The town's cemetery is cared for by former inhabitants who assemble here once each year, on the second Sunday in August. The occasion is a picnic and reunion of former Laquin residents.

APPROVE UTAILITY BILLS

City council has approved February bills presented by utilities and other concerns as follows:

Bell Telephone company, $201.75; Manufacturers Light & Heat company, $110.82; City Water Company, $878.37 and Pennsylvania Power Company, $5,839.89.

Decoration Of Windows Is Art

McIntyre Finds Transformation Of New York Show Windows Interesting

MENCKEN VISITS FIRST NIGHT CLUB

NEW YORK, March 10.—One of the free after midnight shows along Fifth and Madison avenues and the 34th street shopping zone is the window decorator doing his stuff. An empty space in a few short hours becomes magically a work of art. A vista that will halt thousands.

O. O. McIntyre

There are times when his wizardry will incite a sudden burst of applause from the sidewalk of temperament. Any hoodlum audience. Also there are bursts hoots and down will come the curtain to shut off the view. Most great windows are redecorated twice a week.

Last night I saw what first appeared a raffish pile of jumble slowly metamorphose into the artistic miracle of a jungle lake with flamingoes in flight. Against the breathless background of a luminous sky with a thin scimiter of moon in glowy crescent.

The success of a midtown establishment depends much on the catchiness of window arrays. A number of the decorators rate as high as $50,000 a year. They have their private staffs, private secretaries. And they go on scouting trips for new ideas.

An ambitious young pianist from Louisiana giving his first recital at Town hall ended a flash arpeggio with a blue note. But instead of displaying his confusion in a flutter, he walked calmly to the footlights and explained: "I just washed my hands and cannot do a thing with them." And for his trigger touch he got a noisy salvo of hand claps. And two Page One puffs.

It is reported that Henry L. Mencken paid his first visit to a New York night club recently. A garish place with a Moorishly garbed sultan from Harlem as the door opener. The Baltimore writer is said to have looked about a few moments with an especial gaze for the beautiful cigaret girl and his food. When he finished he got away in a jiffy. He seemed unimpressed. Mencken and Nathan incidentally are pally again after a long drawn-out tiff over nothing in particular.

Cafe owners call them the Look Around Boys. In their dinner jackets they pop in at the dining hour, look around the room to see if they know anyone who might invite them to the table for a drink. After wrangling a few drinks there is the off chance of being invited to remain for dinner and to dance for they are dee-vine dancers.

And there are those vicarious and deflowered ladies with a Son in Boarding School, whose eyes can brim tears so engagingly. Keptees who have had long tough sledding since steel dipped below 100. But they are trickling back into circulation and are, out cafe-ing again talking to interior decorators, booking for Florida and Egypt and where not. Things are on the up and up. Definitely.

A syndicated writer learns much of the geographic temperament thru his mail. I was thinking today that the most whole-souled, kindly letters I receive come from Arkansas and Oklahoma. And so many epistles from these states that are marvelously erudite essays. One today from an up the holler hamlet discussed the clowning of the First Grave Digger in Hamlet and the tenderness of Horatio. And the ineffable sadness of an old rocking horse when a mother, whose child has met tragedy, comes upon it in an attic long afterward.

And such musing chivvied out speculation as to what is the best remembered—not necessarily the most interesting—town in America. I choose Salem, Mass. I arrived there on a glowering day of heavy skies and went through the original "House of Seven Gables" and in the dusk, fireflaught with lightning, visited gloomy Gallows Hill where so many were hanged for witch-craft. And we had refreshments at a candle-sputtering tea room whose proprietress in black dress might have well taken off on the fabled flying broom. It was all so spooky we hurried to the cheer of the Boston Ritz.

Lois Long's story of the Broadway lover whose sweetheart passed away. He was inconsolable as they returned from the morning funeral. His pals tried to console. One soothed: "Time heals. Perhaps in six months you will meet some one else." Thru his tears he blubbered: "But what will I do this evening?"

Picked Up In Other Papers

A gold-colored catfish, a piscatorial freak rarely exhibited, smooth, shiny, goldhued to the whisker tips, attracted anglers to the Hershey Park aquarium, Hershey, Pa., today. It was found in a net at the mouth of Salem Creek, Fortescue, N. J., and shipped to the chocolatetown amusement park.

A program of development in the Pymatuning reservoir, particularly about the dam, was started this week when a force of WPA workers began tearing down some old buildings near the site of a proposed huge new boat house, 1½ miles north of the dam, east of Turnersville. The boathouse is one item in the beautifying program.

Mrs. Helen Kidd Thompson, of Greenville, and Dr. Bertha Maxwell, of Williamsport, Pa., president and past president respectively of the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs will be honor guests at a breakfast in Pittsburgh March 14 opening National Business Women's Week.

Police, charging Eva Harris with malicious destruction of property at Cleveland, O., said she hurled a brick through a lunch room window after losing an argument with a waiter. The dispute arose, they said, when she refused to pay for a bowl of chili on the ground that the waiter had his finger in it.

CONN. VOTERS JUMP

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn.—The number of voters in Connecticut since 1924 has increased 72 per cent, the highest reported for any New England state. WHAT TO DO FOR ECZEMA ITCHING AND BURNING

Wash the affected parts with Resinol Soap and warm water to soften scales and crusts. Resinol Soap is suggested because it contains no excess of free alkali, and is especially suited to tender skin. Dry by patting with a soft cloth—do not rub.

Doctors recommend an oily ointment because it penetrates the outer layers of the skin more effectively. Resinol Ointment meets this requirement, and does even more. For over 40 years it has been—and still is—successfully used to relieve quickly the itching and burning of eczema. It contains soothing ingredients that aid healing.

Use Resinol Ointment today and enjoy comfort tomorrow. Get a jar, also a cake of Resinol Soap, at any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 1, Baltimore, Md.

How 1936 Gifts To Y. W. Were Divided In Work

Here Is Outline Of Way Last Year's Contributions Were Used

MEMBERSHIP FEE IMPORTANT ITEM

In the following paragraphs a brief outline has been arranged in order to give the reader at a glance an idea of the way contributions to the Y. W. C. A. are divided.

It will be interesting to note that the largest part of the funds go to program, that the Y. W. C. A. dormitory and camp are self supporting and the central and Elm street buildings are nearly so.

It is also interesting to note that about one third of the income of the association, barring that from the Character Chest, comes from membership fees. It is therefore apparent that the membership campaign in progress this week is of great importance to the maintenance of the Young Women's Christian Association from a financial as well as moral standpoint.

Expenditures—$15,323.90.

Income — $10,370.07 ($8,870.07 from rentals, etc., and $1,500 from memberships.)

Character Chest—$4,953.83.

Flight Failure Hits Stamp Collectors

Cancelled Flight Makes Covers Costing Nearly Three Dollars Worthless

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Texas—Dallas residents and stamp collectors the world over, today had a costly souvenir of an airmail flight that never came off.

Two dollars and eighty cents was the necessary postage to mail a letter from Dallas to Dallas. The mail was to be carried around the world, on the proposed Pangborn-Mason flight which was to be an advertisement for the now-closed Texas Centennial Exposition.

The flight plans struck a snag. There was a breakup in the partnership. The plane never flew across the Atlantic, let alone around the world.

The letters, turned over to the flight managers last July, were hauled across the country in a trailer; mailed at Los Angeles and arrived in Dallas shortly before Washington's Birthday.

Because they have what smokers like, Chesterfields are humming right along . . .

Merry Fox Hunt Nets Two Youths With Live Fox

Chase Of Two Hours Finally Finds Red Fox Trapped In Hollow Tree

It was a queer procession which was passing along the road to Nashua on Tuesday afternoon, when two young men were seen leading a beautiful red fox, secured to the end of a rope.

According to the captors, who were John Braho and Stanley Gransky, both of Nashua, the fox was captured after a chase of nearly two hours. An end was finally brought to the fox hunt when the pursued victim ran blindly into the hollow of a tree.

The hunter's dog promptly blocked up the entrance to the tree and prevented Mr. Fox from escaping. A rope was placed around the animal's neck and he was led home alive.

According to Braho, this is the fourth fox which has been captured this year by members of his family. Two were secured by his brother Paul, and the other two met their doom through the skilful trailing of John.

Rocco Fazio to Rosie Frank, Shenango township, $1.

Louis W. Hasely to Mike Fazzone, 4th ward, $1.

Court room number two was all too small for the crowd that wedged itself in Tuesday to hear the evidence in the case against Angelo Pedonesi. A murder case always does and especially one where folks like to think they will get shocked.

The crowd has been so dense this week that during each recess the windows are opened and fresh air blows through. Those who leave their seats during the recess to smoke or get a drink may lose their seat. Those who stay get chilly.

Letters testamentary have been issued by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to Clarence Edward Aiken and John Stewart as executors in the estate of John P. Aiken, late of Shenango township, who died February 22, 1937.

Letters of administration have been issued to Helen Taylor as executrix in the estate of Frederick John Taylor, late of New Castle who died January 29, 1937.

BEATING BOOMS

"I'm foreman of a construction crew for the telephone company. With all the millions we've already spent for telephone plant, you might think there wouldn't be much left for us to do. The fact is, however, that we've never stopped growing. We're always planning ahead—to anticipate the needs of each community and be ready to render the service as soon as it's needed. So when a new development starts to boom—when new houses, stores, factories or offices are going up—you'll find telephone trucks there soon after the first steam shovel."

It's good business to plan ahead. If your business is growing, your telephone service should grow with it. Perhaps your facilities for handling calls are already lagging behind your needs. How many "busy signals" are your customers getting when they call your office? We can tell you. Why not let us check your telephone traffic? It may improve your sales and service. No obligation. Just call the Business Office.

HEAR PROSECUTION TESTIMONY IN DUKES' CASE

Grannis Relates Story To Jury

Tells Of His Knowledge Of Attack Made Upon Officer Dukes

OTHERS ON SCENE ALSO TESTIFY

Testimony introduced by the commonwealth Tuesday afternoon in the trial of Angelo Pedesoni for the murder of Policeman Robert H. Dukes was for the most part corroborative of other testimony introduced save for one or two witnesses.

At the opening of the afternoon session the defense asked for the return of Mary Gilkey to the stand for further cross examination. A sidebar offer was made by the defense which was rejected by the court. This followed the testimony of Georgie Ross, described by Mary Gilkey as "a girl friend yho lives with me off and on." Her testimony was merely that she lived with Mary Gilkey, that she had been there on the afternoon of February 9 and had heard a commotion in the passageway next to the Gilkey house. Neither she nor any other witness have been permitted to testify as to any conversations they heard.

Ordered Pedonesi Away

Clarence Grannis, a mill worker, who lives in the house of Mary Gilkey, was called and repeated his story before the coroner's inquest and the preliminary hearing, viz:—that he had returned from work about 3:30 o'clock and saw three men in the passage way between 903 and 905 Moravia street. One man was on the ground, who he recognized later as Officer Robert H. Dukes, one man (Sam Traci) was standing on either one or both legs of Dukes and that Pedonesi was kicking him.

Upon cross examination he admitted that he did not see Pedonesi's foot strike Dukes but merely saw his leg swing. He ordered Pedonesi off the premises, aided in getting Dukes to a car and drove him to the New Castle hospital.

Other Witnesses

Daniel Evans, William Schell, Edward Cowles and Charles George were called and testified to about the same thing. Evans had seen the car with Pedonesi drive up to a point near 903 Moravia street and double park. He saw Dukes walk over to the car, talk to the men and then motion for them to get out of the car. The three men walked across the yard in what Evans termed "a friendly fashion" and then disappeared into the alley. Evans did not see the fight but did see Dukes after it. He assisted him from the alley.

The other three men did not see anything of the fight or the incidents before it, but had come to the scene when Dukes was in the alley. They assisted him to the car. All of them spoke of the injuries to his nose and two of them said that his right leg was broken and the bone protruded through the flesh. Testimony of doctors said it was the left leg.

Officer John G. Moore testified that he had taken a statement from Pedonesi when he was brought back from Cleveland. The statement was not introduced.

Doctor Testifies

Dr. Samuel W. Perry was called and told of going to the New Castle hospital and finding Dukes in the emergency room. His son Dr. S. W. Perry Jr., had been there before him and had ministered to Dukes. Dr. Perry said there was a fracture of a septum in Dukes' nose and that his left ankle was broken so that the foot hung loosely from the leg. He said he realized the gravity of the injury and that Dukes was suffering from profound shock.

Morphine was administered, the bones were placed in apposition, a cast was put on and a window put in the cast through which the wound could be treated. Dukes got no sleep Tuesday, Wednesday nor Thursday nights but did get three hours rest on Friday night. On Saturday morning there was evidence of gas gangrene and in the afternoon the cast was removed and later Dukes died.

Dr. Perry's testimony closed the afternoon session.

Doubts Whether Poor Benefit By Health Insurance

Physician Declares Inferior Medical Service Would Be Given Poor

(International News Service)

DENVER — National compulsory health insurance would result in inferior medical service to the sick poor, the very ones the proponents of the system claim they are seeking to aid, Dr. R. G. Leland of Chicago, head of the bureau of medical economics of the American Medical association, declared in Denver recently.

"The medical profession frankly recognizes that present conditions of treating the sick and controlling disease are far from perfect," he said. "But the creation of a gigantic political machine would only make conditions immeasurably worse.

"Even the leaders of the present move toward compulsory health insurance in Washington admit that it would require at least one government employe for every doctor actually practicing, to make such a system operate. In Europe, where such systems already are in operation, the ratio of nondoctors to doctors in the organization is even higher."

Frey Conferring With Leaders Of Plant Unions

History-Making Conference In Progress At Pittsburgh Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—Labor today watched with interest the history-making conference here between John P. Frey, a vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and a grievance committee of four representing employe representatives of the great Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation.

Uppermost was the possibility that the conference may lead to a further break in the American Federation of Labor or more specifically between Frey and William Green, president, who had summarily rejected the invitation to come here and offer suggestions for battling John L. Lewis's steel workers organizing committee which recently won recognition from Carnegie-Illinois.

As Frey arrived here a tidal wave of pay raises began rolling in on "white collared" and salaried workers in the industry. Weirton Steel company, National Steel's chief subsidiary, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube company led the parade, Weirton boosting office wages 10 cents an hour and establishing the 40-hour week. Carnegie-Illinois was expected to make similar announcement in a few days.

Owen Jones, chairman of the four-man grievance committee organized to battle Lewis, who had opposed inviting Green, expressed just as vigorous disapproval against Frey. Frey had been invited to offer suggestions without obligating himself or the employe representatives, but observers saw nothing to prevent him from taking more direct action and perhaps split steel into two big unions, one backed by Lewis and one by himself.

"We just want Frey's advice," explained Ralph Martin of Homestead, leader of the majority of three which overruled Jones.

Saving our soil may not interest city voters now, but wait till they are required to pay two bits for a bean.

Campaign Closes For Red Bud Planting

Officers Named For Year And Plans Discussed for Anniversary Dinner

The meeting of the Garden Forum of Lawrence County held Monday evening in the North Street School auditorium marked the close of the period during which Red Bud trees can be ordered. The campaign was highly successful and as a Sesqui-centennial planting of county-wide scope it is of especial importance.

When the trees arrive, those reserved for public planting will be cared for by members of the National Youth Administration, directed by supervisors from the WPA Adult Education program, with Owen Penfield Fox, city forester, and a member of the Men's Garden club, guiding and directing the entire plan.

Residents who are planning to plant privately will receive notice through local publicity when the trees arrive. They should take care to see that the roots of the trees are protected from sun and wind until the place for planting is prepared; exposure of roots to the air and sun is disastrous to the life of a tree. A burlap sack provides convenient protection to the roots.

The Harbor Garden club, Mrs. A. T. Eckles president, was recently organized by Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad, and in company with the Ellwood City Garden club, Mrs. Frank Kraus president, have been admitted to membership in the Forum.

The report of the nominating committee was made at this time and the officers named for the coming year were: president, Mrs. William A. Howley; first vice president, Mrs. John Rapp; second vice, Mrs. Vane Johns; third vice president, Mrs. Allan Ingals; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry Sturdevant; corresponding secretary, Asa M. Hoffmaster; treasurer, J. W. Anderson; members at large: Mrs. Paul Allen, Mrs. W. C. Meechem, Mrs. Richard Cooper and Howard Butler.

Plans were announced for the first anniversary dinner, which will take place April 12 in the Westfield Grange hall and Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad, retiring president, named a committee to arrange the details; the committee includes Mesdames Wylie Brewster, W. W. Wallace, David Zimmerman, Leonard Cramer, Miss Jean Brewster, Mrs. W. C. Meechem, Mrs. George Michaels and John Robinson.

Interesting responses were made to the roll call concerning a new annual after which an interesting and instructive talk was given on grafting and budding by James Fullerton of the North Beaver Garden club. Mrs. Alan Ingals discussed the beautiful exhibit of forced shrubs, which was displayed by the members.

Scrap Iron Boom In Evidence Here

One of the biggest booms in the history of the scrap iron industry has struck New Castle just like it has the remaining countless hundreds of sections throughout the nation.

Several New Castle scrap iron yards which were literally strewn with tons and tons of junk several years ago today are practically empty. About five years ago nobody was interested in junk at any price. The condition is much different now. The price for heavy melting steel, which makes up the bulk of the scrap iron business, has gone up, up and up. This important commodity is getting scarce throughout the country.

Visiting several yards throughout New Castle yesterday afternoon, the writer didn't have to ask why there was so much hustling and bustling in the communities of old automobile engines, steel bars and other scrap. As a result of the boom, the number of "scrap hunters" has increased considerably. In a South Side yard the writer saw a line of trucks loaded with scrap iron.

One of the biggest dealers in the city said yesterday that in 1929 scrap iron was worth about $3.50 a ton and "you almost had to beg them to buy it." "Today, there is one of the biggest demands in the history of scrap iron. Since 1929 the price of old iron has jumped approximately 100 per cent," he said.

Several New Castle dealers could forsee the boom and kept on piling the scrap instead of selling. The result is that those piles are worth 100 per cent more. And junk yards are being guarded by some of the dealers. To them, that old iron is just like gold. The writer was unable to secure any figures as to how many tons has been disposed or how many tons dealers are preparing to sell. They just seemed too busy to bother with a reporter in most cases.

The sudden boom was brought on this way. Unable to get rid of scrap iron here, dealers started to export their iron and steel scrap to Japan, Italy, Germany and France. The first year's export totaled about 250,000 to 300,000 tons. To date, the figures run something like 6,000,000 tons of scrap and possibly more. Export scrap is being disposed along the Gulf ports at prices as high as $20. This export business is constituting quite a problem as what leaves the country does not come back.

As the reporter visited the various yards he not only readily discovered the marked change, but the dealers smiling like they never have before.

Seek Slayer Of Eccentric Man At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—While the body of the dead Peter Liebach, Northside miser and eccentric, attracted hundreds of curious Pittsburghers to the county morgue, police scoured saloons in the hope of unearthing some clue that will lead to the identity of his assailant.

Frank Lloyd, a second cousin and one of the three heirs to the $50,000 to $75,000 fortune left by Liebach, has left his home in Laclede, Ill., to claim the body. Two others who will share the fortune are Lloyd's mother, Mrs. W. F. Lloyd and her other son.

Police expressed surprise that no crowd of claimants rushed to demand a share of the money. When Liebach's hoard had been taken from him in 1909 and placed in trust, scores of men and women, claiming relationship, sought a share in the money.

Liebach was found dead by police in the hovel on top of a 75 foot cliff. Asphyxiation from hemhorrages caused by the beating on his head as he lay in bed was given as the cause of Peter's demise.

Giant Grading Machine Moved From Airport

Special Permit Was Necessary From State To Take Machine On Highway

One of the huge carry-all machines which were being used to grade the ground at the new airport on the Youngstown road was taken from the hangar at the present port this morning, and moved to Johnstown, Pa., where a bit of grading work is being done by the construction company that owns the machines.

Quite a problem was encountered in moving this machine. A huge trailer truck was used to haul the caterpillar and the giant carry-all attachment was towed behind the truck. As the carry-all measures about 12-foot wide, a special permit from the state was necessary before this machinery could be taken out on the highway.

As work has ceased on the airport because of cold weather, the large machines have been stored in the hangar at the present port and were not in use. According to airport attaches this work will be started again on the first of May.

The machine will be used in Johnstown for grading a cemetery plot and will be returned to New Castle in time to start work in May.

Sanute Makes His Defense

Officer Testifies He Was Not In Room When Monaghan Was Injured

GUNDERMAN TO TELL STORY AGAIN

(International News Service)

SOMERSET, Pa., March 10.—State Trooper Stacey Gunderman, already convicted of second degree murder, was to take the stand once more today and tell his story of self defense in an effort to save his buddy, State Trooper Anthony Sanute, from conviction in the death of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, Uniontown hotelkeeper.

Sanute, calm and unruffled, took the stand in his own defense yesterday and maintained he was out of the Bertillon room of the Fayette county courthouse at the time Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti alleges Monaghan was brutally beaten to death in a "third degree" because he slashed County Detective John C. Wall.

At the time the commonwealth alleged Monaghan was fatally beaten, Sanute testified he was in an upstairs room in the courthouse telephoning the results of his preliminary questioning of Monaghan to the state police barracks.

When he returned, he said, he found Monaghan lying naked on the floor of the shower room. Gunderman did not tell him at that time, he said, that he had been forced to fling Monaghan to the floor by Jiu Jitsu and leap on him in self defense when attacked from behind. He did not learn of it until five days later, he explained.

Before Sanute took the stand, Defense Attorney Joseph Levy called witnesses who painted Monaghan as a vicious character who was especially so when intoxicated. Some said he behaved normally when sober.

East Brook A. A. Planning Banquet

East Brook A. A. members held a meeting last night at the home of F. J. Waddington and elected Harold Mayberry as the new president for the year of 1937 to succeed Lou Harlan, who has served the association for the past two years as a very capable leader.

The vice presidency was given to Walter "Hub" Hart and the secretary job went to Mrs. Oma Fink. The treasurer will be Rena Mayberry, succeeding Miss Edna Waddington, who has served the East Brook A. A. quite capably for the past several years.

All of the old business matters were cleared up and the outlook for a promising lot of activity for this summer is very good. Plans were discussed for the holding of the annual East Brook high recognition banquet for the boys and girls basketball teams.

The East Brook girls under Coach Miss Marjorie Powell, won the girls championship of the county this year and will be duly honored at the banquet.

The next meeting of the association will be held on April 6.

But if one side is right and wise and the other wrong and foolish, and both are led by great men, it means that wrong and foolish men are great.

Victim of "Boy Gang" Slaying

The battered body of 4-year-old Beverly Ann Page (above) was found face down in the shallow water of Mill Pond, Windsor, Vt. Authorities say the child was not a victim of drowning. Her jaw had been broken and her body bore deep gashes and other marks of violence. Police Chief John Edmonds said that the child had been killed by a "gang of hellions" not much older than little Beverly. (Central Press)

AROUND CITY HALL

It is not known when employes of the WPA will resume work on the proposed lodging room for itinerants in the police garage. The work was started several weeks ago. However, the work ceased.

Tractor has been used to dig a ditch from the mouth of the storm sewer at the Grant street bridge so that the water from the sewer can flow into the Shenango river.

Police authorities are worried over the frequent theft of automobiles. Almost an auto a night is stolen, despite captures effected by police. No one should leave an auto unlocked, police advise.

There has not been much contagion here since the first of the year, according to health reports. Only 85 cases have been reported. All contagious ills result in quarantining of patients homes.

Salary statistics from city hall show that Mayor Charles E. McGrath receives $3,000, per annum, likewise the city engineer, Glenn R. Throop. The city treasurer, C. C. McKibben receives $4,100, per annum, a portion of which is paid by the school board. Members of council receive $2,500, each and the city controller, the same amount, per annum.

Other salaries paid in city hall are as follows:

City clerk, $1,800; solicitor, $2,000; assistant to solicitor, $1,200; superintendent disposal plant, $1,800 and garbage collector, $1,603.80; police chief $1,897.80 and a similar amount to the fire chief.

Police lieutenants receive $148.35, per month and sergeants of police, $138.10, per month. Fire department captains receive $138.10 per month and fire department lieutenants, $133.65.

Privates in the police and fire departments receive $133.65, monthly.

None of the clerks in the city building, excepting the registry clerk, receives $100.00, a month. The registry clerk receives $148.50 monthly. The inspector of sidewalks receives $100.40, monthly.

An hourly rate prevails for labor in several of the city departments.

While the troopship California was docking at Southampton, England, Mrs. S. Mills, of Portsmouth, eager to welcome her brother-in-law home, ran forward waving to him. She stepped over the side of the pier into the river. She was rescued.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Reports of the arrangements for the annual national commander's banquet, when honor will be paid to Harry W. Colmery, head of the American Legion, occupied the attention of the Perry S. Gaston Post, at its meeting in the Legion Home last evening.

General Chairman Ivor V. Davis reported that arrangements for the event are going forward, and announced the appointment of additional sub-committee heads to assist with the work.

As previously announced, Ches C. Sweesy is vice chairman, and the ticket arrangements are in the hands of Tom Edmunds. Nick Speed is chairman of the committee on arrangements, Norman P. Nelson, chairman of the committee on invitations, and John R. Wilson, chairman of the committee in charge of the decorations.

The date of Thursday, April 29, has been officially confirmed, and the Legionnaires of the district are now looking forward to this date.

but death followed quickly. The body was then removed to a New Castle funeral home.

Both the trucks owned by Mr. Blair and Mr. Allison were carrying loads of steel to the same concern in Cleveland. Mr. Allison's truck had endeavored to go through with its load the night before but because of the treacherous condition of the roads had found it necessary to disconnect the four-wheeler and park it at the side of the highway. Last night he was picking it up again, intending to carry it through to Cleveland this time. He and his driver, Watt, were finding difficulty in coupling the vehicles at the time the Blair truck came along.

The accident victim was born on May 21, 1919, son of Mrs. Sophia Caravasios and the late Peter Caravasios, who died 13 years ago. His only survivors are his mother and one brother, Peter, at home. He was a member of Princeton Presbyterian church.

The body is at the R. L. Boyd funeral home in New Castle pending arrangements for services and burial.

Boak Meets With Taber In Capital

State Grange Chief Confers With National Group On Convention Plans

J. Audley Boak, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, left his R. F. D. 4 home last night for Harrisburg to meet today with National Grange Master L. J. Taber and his executive committee to select a meeting place for the national grange which convenes in Pennsylvania next November.

Mr. Boak said next fall's national convention will be the first Pennsylvania has entertained since the 1923 sessions in Pittsburgh. That national convention was the first to be held in the state in 40 years.

From Harrisburg Mr. Boak and the national grange party will go to Philadelphia tomorrow.

November 10 to 18 are the announced national convention dates, Mr. Boak said. Thirty-five state granges will send representatives to the meeting, and state masters and their wives are voting delegates. The seventh degree, the highest degree of the order, will be conferred on a class of candidates numbering nearly 10,000. Last November at the Columbus national convention there were 7,218 candidates and in Hartford, Conn., in 1934, 12,679 candidates formed the largest group ever to be given the seventh degree.

in the statement. He said he had been a candy salesman for a number of years working Italian celebrations, that he had worked for a week for Angelo Pedonesi in Cleveland, Pedonesi being a foreman for the Cleveland Trinidad Paving Company.

Late last summer he come to New Castle where he opened a restaurant with a woman he said had promised to marry him. She has not married him as yet, he said. Santucci denied ever having sent a clipping to Cleveland, denied having any knowledge of the crime except what people had told him after they read it in The News. He said that when the three men left the restaurant he knew nothing of their having been in trouble. At one point in the direct examination Attorney Logan objected that the district attorney was cross examining his own witness.

Second Witness

Matilda Delmar was the second commonwealth witness who appeared to have little relish for her work. Plainly belligerent, apparently evasive, she denied all knowledge of ever having seen Pedonesi, Traci or Perconti the day they were here except at a distance, so far she could not recognize them. She said she had not been in the Santucci restaurant, where she works, from early on the morning of February 9 until about three-thirty in the afternoon. She had had a fight with Santucci she said, and was out visiting friends and trying to get another job.

Her apparent unwillingness to testify forced the district attorney to ask questions which were objected to by the defense as cross examination. Her testimony on direct examination was in brief, that she knew nothing of the men or the crime.

Cross Examination

Upon cross examination there was another passage at arms between Matilda and counsel. Attorney James L. Connell for the defense, produced a letter written to the Pedonesis in October, 1936, and signed Tilly and Sam.

"Is that your handwriting?" he asked.

"No it isn't," she replied, "and I can prove it. Get me a pen and ink and I'll show you."

Did you ever know the Pedonesi family in Cleveland, O.?"

She said she didn't.

Deftly Connell led her on, reading portions of the letter and asking her if she remembered the various things in it, to all of which she assented. After acknowledging the various things in the letter (reference to the Pedonesis) she denied them in bulk when Connell said, "Now if you didn't write the letter how do you know the things that were in it?"

In a voice that was almost a roar Matilda said, "Well, you were reading it to me, weren't you? Wouldn't that help me to remember it?"

She was excused and as she got off the stand she blurted out, "and don't ever drag me up to this place again." Her remarks were directed at nobody in particular and everybody in general.

Police Officers Called

Opening court today, Police Chief Ralph Criswell and Sergeant Wayne Sines were called and testified to a statement taken from Pedonesi when he was returned to New Castle. Previously Dr. J. R. Cooper, X-ray expert, had exhibited X-ray pictures of the leg injuries of Officer Dukes.

Miss Maxine Gillespie, secretary to the mayor, was called and testified that she had taken down Pedonesi's statement in shorthand and then had transcribed it, making four copies. She identified one of the copies and it was put into evidence.

Statement of Pedonesi

The statement, read to the jury by District Attorney Mont L. Ailey, which was signed by Pedonesi, relates that he had come to New Castle with Traci and Perconti, that he had eaten in Sam Santucci's restaurant and had then went out looking for a sporting house. He had gone to a point near 903 Moravia street and pulled his car in back of a gray sedan. He asked the man in the car if he was going to pull out, whereupon the man had gotten out and said he was an officer. Pedonesi asked him to show some authority (according to the statement) and getting none had gotten out of the car and was going towards 903 Moravia street when Dukes followed him. He said that previously he had asked the woman at 903 if it was all right to bring a friend and that he had gotten Traci.

The three men went into the passageway between the houses and Pedonesi said Dukes started to fight with him. He and Dukes grappled, Dukes fell to the ground and Pedonesi said he picked him up and they began fighting again. The statement was admitted as evidence.

Dr. Paris A. Shoaff was the last witness of the morning session. He testified that he had been called to the New Castle hospital on February 13 and found Officer Dukes in a moribund condition, comatose and unable to recognize him. He found evidences of gas gangrene and he and Dr. D. W. Perry removed the cast from Dukes' leg. Much of the time in examination of Dr. Shoaff was taken up in a professional definition of gangrene, symptoms and causes.

GOVERNOR MURPHY HOPES TO SETTLE DETROIT STRIKES

workers to enter the plants without passes so that business can continue as usual in the executive offices. They also relinquished control of the telephone switchboards to the regular operators.

Executives of the corporations involved in the strike will be permitted to enter and leave the plants at will. But it was stipulated that they must not discuss current issues with the stay-in strikers.

On the question of the UAW being acknowledged as the exclusive bargaining agency for the employes, the contending sides in the controversy could not agree. Adolph Germer, representing the committee for industrial organization, argued in behalf of this right but the Chrysler and Hudson executives replied with a point blank "no".

The representatives of the corporation agreed, however, that there would be no attempt to resume production of automobiles in the closed plants pending negotiations.

Huge Wage Loss.

Wages totaling about $500,000 a day are being lost as a result of the strike. In addition to the 85,000 on strike here, approximately 4,000 are out at New Castle, Ind., and 1,700 auto parts workers in Toledo are idle awaiting settlement of the dispute.

Besides the Chrysler and Hudson plants in Detroit, the Briggs Manufacturing company, which makes automobile bodies for Chrysler, is hardest hit by the strike. More than 10,000 of its employes are thrown temporarily out of work because production had to be stopped until the automobile plants resume operations.

A number of smaller plants which manufacture automobile accessories have had their production seriously curtailed with a consequent loss of time to employes.

Many Small Strikes.

Detroit, meanwhile, is having an epidemic of smaller strikes. The city's ranks of sit-down strikes—already numbering more than 3,000 exclusive of the major automobile strikes—were swelled today with the staging of sit-down strikes in two of the major plants of the Gar Wood industries.

Gar Wood, speedboat king, who made a fortune with his hydraulic hoist and other inventions, is at present in Florida.

The city's third strike in three days paralyzed the Tuller hotel when elevator operators, waiters, waitresses and bell boys struck, demanding increased wages.

discriminate against any workers for union activities, but that they will not recognize any outside organization in their dealings with the employes. The company will recognize collective bargaining by employes within the factory, however, they assert.

Still In Plant

Workers were still sitting it out at the plant on the Butler road this morning and have made additional arangements for their own comfort and convenience.

A loud speaker has been installed so that employes may be called from any part of the plant to the main entrance. They state that there is no change in their attitude to sit it out until a settlement is effected.

May Picke Washington Plant

(International News Service)

Washington, March 10. — Mass picketing was decided upon today by 150 girl strikers of the National Pants Co., as a means of winning to their ranks an estimated 250 other workers who remained at their posts.

At the same time, Charles Erwin, national organizer for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, anounced he would lodge protests with police officials against tactics employed by police early today in "ushering" union members, pickets and sympathizers from the vicinity of the plants.

Claim of Charles L. Pilzer, manager of the plants, that the strikes called yesterday had been settled were disputed as the strikers assembled to press demands for a wage increase.

No Affiliation Of Plant Unions With A. F. Of L.

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 10.—There will be no affiliation of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation's "company unions" with the American Federation of Labor, it was definitely announced today.

Terming the craft union plan of the A. F. of L. as "inapplicable" to the steel industry, leaders of the employe representatives plan flatly turned down the invitation of John P. Frey, a vice president of the federation, after conferring with him.

"The craft union setup would bring chaos to the steel industry," declared Ralph Martin, a member of the grievance committee of the "company union" which invited Frey to come here and consult with them. "We couldn't possibly go along with Mr. Frey," he said.

Athletic Council Of Pitt Hears Coach Sutherland Give His Side Of Controversy

HARRISON WILL BE HEARD NEXT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 10. — The athletic council of the University of Pittsburgh today studied Coach Jock Sutherland's side of the story of the trouble between the head football mentor and the athletic director, W. Don Harrison.

After a luncheon in the Duquesne Club Sutherland appeared before the council and, although nothing was made public, it was a safe bet he outlined his version of the controversy that has gained nation-wide attention. Harrison, who will have his chance later, was not present.

The group hearing Sutherland's story included C. W. Ridinger, William P. Snyder, Jr., John Weber, J. Steele Gow, Dr. H. E. Friesel, Alan M. Scaife and Dr. W. S. McElroy.

Pitt officials last night scoffed at the rumor that Sutherland would coach Wake Forest College next fall, intimating that if the Pitt mentor would sever his relations here he would hardly take up with such a small school.

Tigers Wallop Acmes Quintet

Scoring repeatedly from all angles of the hardwood, the powerful New Castle Tigers rang up one of their most impressive victories of the season Tuesday night, defeating the Acmes of the "Y". The final score was 44 to 19.

At the half the Tigers held a 14-5 lead. Led by Gabby DeCaprio and Cooper in the second half, the Tigers simply went wild, showering field goal after field goal. It was the fourteenth consecutive win for the Benny Ciccone coached machine. Gennock proved the best bet for the losers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Larry Kelly tossed two baskets from mid-court in the last 25 seconds to give Yale a 33 to 31 win over Penn State at New Haven last night. It was the last home game for Yale. The game was well played and bitterly fought. The score was tied five times and at the end of the first half the score was deadlocked 21-all. Jack Reichenbach was the ace of Penn State's attack. He scored 11 points.

Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta put in a bid for a third straight victory in the annual four-ball matches yesterday with sub-par golf in a steady rain at Miami. Picard's play gave him and Revolta a 4 and 3 victory over Gene Sarazen and Jimmy Hibes whom they beat 4 to 3 in last year's final. They will play Jimmy Thompson and Harry Cooper today.

George Petach's scoring average of better than 10 points a game led the Grove City college squad this year. He scored 145 points in 14 games with 56 field goals and 33 foul points. He passed Bob Bingham, and Ray Brunton, last year's leaders, who were tied for the 1936 season at 92 points each. Bingham ranked second with 118 points and Andy Petack third with 93 points.

Featured by the sensational scoring record of Mercer Clark, forward, who accumulated 262 points, the Waynesburg college Yellow Jackets concluded their 1937 basketball season with a record of 14 won and 8 lost. They scored 994 points against opponents' 903.

Sport Celebrities Are Thinking About How To Slice Down Income Returns

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 10.—Along Bash boulevard today . . We find the fistic fraternity suffering a collective headache . . the boys are trying to figure out how little they can pay Uncle Sam . . For income tax . and still get away with it . .

You'd be surprised to know how many of them . . in the higher income brackets . . Have trouble with simple arithmetic . . or even in writing their own names.

Pay Large Taxes

Joe Louis was the top hand for the right game in 1936 . . Joe probably will have to pay tax on a $350,000 income . . In other words . . . Joe made more in a couple of hours fighting than the president of the United States earned in four years! What price brains?

Some small fry managers must pay surprisingly large taxes . . . . Many have $25,000 incomes . . and it's a poor one who didn't make $10,000 . . .

An ordinary fighter may earn several thousands a year . . But his manager . . who may have a dozen fighters in his stable . . will have much more . . for he gets a cut on all of them. . .

Fighters often blow their dough . . but managers are usually smart enough to hold onto theirs . . Was reminded of this by seeing Jack Renault today . . standing outside a restaurant at 41st St. & Broadway . . . all dolled up in a red and blue uniform . . Even with his tips as a flunkey, Jack's yearly stipend won't be a third of what he used to get for one ordinary fight . . when he was one of the higher paid heavyweights.

Murray Murdoch . . the rangers' iron man of hockey . . turned in his 580th consecutive game last night . . . covering exhibitions, league game and Stanley Cup play-offs. . . over a period of 11 years. . .

No Hockey Players

No hockey player will have to pay taxes on more than $10,000.. most of them on much less . . and many of them take more punishment in one game than a fighter does in a dozen battles . . .

Uncle Sam will get little from the golfers. . . it's a wonderful golfer who can net more than $10,000 these days . . Lou Gehrig's $35,000—when he decides to take it . . will top the baseball brigade . . A top notch wrestler like Crusher Casey can make $50,000. . But pro football players get only coffee and cake money . . Ellsworth Vines can make $50,000 from his tennis . . And a star jockey . . with luck. . . can equal president Roosevelt's salary.

From this it would appear that a young athlete can make more money in the fight game than anywhere else in sport . . and he doesn't have to have any brains. . .

WHAT BIG LEAGUE TEAMS ARE DOING

(International News Service)

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 10.—Outfielder Paul Waner and First Baseman Gus Suhr were the only two holdouts in the Pittsburgh Pirate training camp here today after Bill Brubaker, young infielder, affixed his John Hancock to a contract. Brubaker will report in camp on Monday.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 10.—Thirty strong, the 1937 crop of Phillies today opened the spring baseball training grind here. There was one absentee, Dolph Camilli, the Phils star first baseman and .300 hitter, who is holding out at Sacramento, Calif., for an additional salary increase.

Mexico City, March 10.—The Philadelphia Athletics, directed by Commander Connie Mack, were to meet the Agrarians, Mexico's baseball champions, for the second time today. The game, originally scheduled for yesterday, had to be held over because of rain. Meanwhile, Connie reported he has had no further word from Wally Moses, holdout star, now limbering up at Hot Springs.

Clearwater, Fla., March 10.—A matter of only $500 each today separated Van Lingle Mungo and Bud Hassett from signed contracts with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Business Manager John Gorman declares he has said his last word, but Mungo and Hassett were still holding out for the $500 advance and have threatened to go home. In the meantime Gorman is waiting for them to broach the subject, but neither will do so although they meet Gorman regularly.

Havana, March 10.—Instead of playing another amateur team tomorrow, the Giants made arrangements today to play an all-star professional team including the top-notchers of the Havana and Almendares clubs. Dick Coffman, Al Smith and Frank Gabler will do the pitching.

Teams headed by Freddie Fitzsimmons and Carl Hubbell played a nine-inning game yesterday, resulting in a 9 to 6 score in favor of the Fitzes.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 10.—Manager Joe McCarthy was greatly pleased today with Lefty Gomez' pitching form after watching the Californian in his first workout here.

Gomez himself said that he was in first-class physical condition, and hoped to pitch the opening game of the season.

"My arm's okay," he declared, "and I have every intention of getting back up there again. I can put the ball where I want it, and that's what counts."

Orlando, Fla., March 10.—The signing of Pitcher Buck Newsom for the 1937 season completed the roster of the Washington Senators today.

Prodigious wallops thundered over Tinker field as the Senators seemingly labored under the impression that every knock is a boost to their batting averages, in going about their chores.

Pasadena, Cal., March 10.—Luke Appling, major league batting champion, regaled his White Sox teammates with stories of his Georgia farm today, as he engaged in his second day of spring training. The star shortstop reported yesterday at playing weight, after a winter of basketball and farming and holding out for an $18,500 contract to which he was entitled, he insisted, because of his 1936 .388 batting average.

Catalina Island, Cal., March 10.—Groundkeepers at the Chicago Cubs' spring training camp here groomed the diamond in preparation for the arrival today of Manager Charley Grimm and a crew of 25 players. The cast of players does not include Pitcher Tex Carlton and a trio counted upon to be the regular outfield—Augie Galan, Tuck Stainback and Frank Demaree. They are engaging in salary conferences with club officials.

Hockey World Mourns Death Of Noted Star

Late Howie Morenz, 35, Was Called One Of Greatest Of Hockey Players

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, March 10. — The world of sport, which admired him as the greatest of all hockey players, a sportsman who gave his all, and at last his life, to the game he loved, pays final tribute to the memory of Howie Morenz, Les Canadiens centre ice star, tomorrow.

In the Montreal Forum, the sports arena that his speed and color went so far toward building, over a hundred thousand are expected to take their last glimpse of Morenz, when his body lies in state from 11 o'clock Thursday morning until the public funeral service at 2:30 in the afternoon. The service will tax the 13,000 seating capacity of the building.

Honored By Mates

On guard at the bier, changing from hour to hour, will be four fellow players of the dead hockey player. It will be made up, not only of players of the present era, but of veterans active with him when he first came hurtling into big time hockey, a star of the first asking, back in 1923.

The death of Morenz Monday Monday night at the comparatively youthful age of 35—he was born in June of 1902—has cast a gloom over this city such as is occasioned only by the passing of a national figure. The Babe Ruth of hockey, he was the sports idol of thousands of school children as well as their elders.

Bowling Congress Starts Tonight

Annual ABC Tourney Opens In New York City, 21,000 Tenpinners Entered

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 10.—Just when everything seemed to be settling down around here to plain, straightaway drivel on the part of our enlightened inhabitants, or inmates, something that seems like alphabetical madness in a most grievous and violent form is about to descend upon us tonight. It's the annual ABC championships of the American Bowling Congress. It's tremendous, it's magnificent, it's an incredible enterprise that apparently, as time goes on, will become all too real.

Record Field

There is to be a record field of more than 21,000 entries. That's not a field; it's a sell out at the Garden. It will have a record payoff of $145,000 and a record representation from 31 states, not to forget Canada. Not to forget an essential detail, the start will be made at 8:30 o'clock tonight with appropriate ceremonies.

The finish, fantastic though it may seem, won't come for 56 days. Fifty-six days; savor that one on your larynx. Eight in the morning until two the following morning, these will be days and nights of continuous canonading until the mind totters and the ears ring as though from an endless tirade. It fires the imagination; it's a spectacle, an eternal pageant.

In fact and without a doubt, it's the Cecil B. De Mille of competition.

Titans Defeat W. & J. 41 To 35

Grubb And Demo Lead Attack For Westminster In Game With Presidents

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 10.—Westminsters inspired Titan band of basketballers came here last night and hung a 41 to 35 defeat around the necks of the W. & J. Presidents. The game was played before a capacity crowd that often voiced disapproval of the manner in which the officials handled the battle.

It was the fifth defeat for W. & J. this year and the 12th victory in 19 starts for Westminster. Demo and Grubb led the boys from up near New Castle by getting 25 of the points between them, the latter having 14 of the points on six and two.

Titans Lead

At the halfway mark the Titans led 21 to 16. W. & J. played better basketball in the second half, but could not bridge the gap. The work of Jeannette and Loughlin was by far the best for the losers, this pair between them making 26 of the points.

The game was rough in spots and necessitated the forcing out on personals of player Bougher of the Presidents, which didn't please the fans too much.

At one time in the second half the Presidents were trailing 29 to 28, but the Titans began turning the steam on and it was too bad for the locals.

Defensively, the Titans played an air-tight game, forcing the Presidents to shoot from the rims of the zone, except on one or two occasions. Backus and Krivosh played heads-up ball for the Titans in keeping down the President attack, centered around Jeannette and Laughlin.

Following the game, the Titan squad and Coach Roark were entertained by Washington and Jefferson student officers in the men's dormitory. The Titans close their 1937 season Saturday night at Geneva.

CHICAGO, March 10. — Judge Walter F. Steffen of the Superior Court, the "commuting coach" of Carnegie Tech football teams, is dead.

Death ended Judge Steffen's busy career here last night at the age of 52. He had been ill since December 15 and was operated on two months ago for the removal of a brain tumor. Two years ago Judge Steffen underwent an operation for gall stones and last year he again went under the knife for a kidney ailment. Monday night his condition became serious.

Steffen was a football star of note early in the century at the University of Chicago and in 1908 was placed on Walter Camp's All-American team.

He was elected to the Superior Court bench in 1922. For years he served as coach of Carnegie Tech's gridiron teams, dividing his time in the fall between the Tech football camp and his court bench in Chicago.

At his bedside when he died were his wife and their six children, Frederick, 22; Walter P. Jr., 19; Patricia, 18; Betty, 16; George, 14, and Janet, 12.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILI BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 9.—Being struck by a five-ton truck isn't calculated to make a man very lively.. but just such a mishap started Archie San Romani on his way to fame as a runner...when Archie was a boy, he dashed to the butcher's one day for some liver...on his way home a truck ran over one of his legs...for a time it was feared the limb would have to be amputated...while Archie was recovering, doctors told him to exercise the leg all he could...so he ran mile after mile...it wasn't long before he became so used to it that running a mile was like walking around the block.

That's the story of a number of great runners...accident in early youth made them stars....Percy Williams, the Olympic sprint star, was so frail in his boyhood it was feared he would be a cripple...running not only made him healthy but famous....Glenn Cunningham suffered severe leg burns in a Kansas school house fire in which a brother lost his life....Bill Bonthron was badly burned about the legs, too, as a youth, and he was told to run to bring back life to the numb limbs.

Kenneth Tozze of the University of Pennsylvania boxing team is a son of Rocco Tozze, who fought under the name of Rocky Kansas and who claimed the world's lightweight championship after defeating Jimmy Goodrich a dozen years ago.... Joel (Silver Dollar) Thorne, wealthy 21-year-old speed enthusiast, will be one to watch in the 500-mile Memorial Day buzz at Indianapolis...he is a son of a former New York banker...when his father died, Joe (no one called him Joel) bought a ranch in Arizona, but found the life of lone ranger too lonely....James J. Lightbody, Jr., quarter-miler at Harvard, is a son of Jim Lightbody who won the Olympic 800 and 1,500 meters 'way back when....Tony Canzoneri will be given another farewell party on April 2...when he tries to regain the lightweight championship he lost to Lou Ambers.

That's Snow, My Friends!

Billiard Wizard Charlie Peterson says it snowed billiard balls in Minnesota recently.....Charley, with Willie Hoppe, Jake Schaefer and Mrs. Schaefer, got lost in a blizzard while en route from Minneapolis to Chicago...a farmer rescued them from freezing.....Tom Robinson, Northwestern swimming coach for 28 years, swims a mile every day.... There are four Sigma Chi lads in the American league...Ed Skoronski, Chicago White Sox rookie catcher; Bill Werber and Bill Conroy of the Athletics, and Gerald Walker of the Tigers....Skoronski is from Purdue, Werber from Duke, Conroy from Illinois Wesleyan and Walker from Mississippi.

Elly Vines is expected to reap $50,000 from the pro tennis tour with Fred Perry, who'll get about twice that much...their battle is about even, however, as far as artistic results are concerned....Vines winning matches with his blazing service, and Perry winning matches by playing all over the court....When a six-day biker goes down in a spill, he never jumps to his feet because he's under instructions to stay there until the photographers get him.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Some of the boys got together last night and played tribute to our old friend Bernard Hanlon . . . it was in the form of a dinner at the Castleton . . . a large number of friends were there and a good time was had by all . . . Barton Richards was toastmaster and the speakers of the evening were Judge Chambers and Russell Urmson, both very able and interesting speakers . . . a man can speak much better if he is talking to his friends and this was a friendly party if there ever was one . . . We extend our best wishes Mr. Hanlon.

We have one comment to make . . . it has been on our mind for sometime . . . last night at the dinner at The Castleton it was made more vivid than ever . . . the service at the dinner was none too good . . . of course we realize that there was a large crowd . . . the meal itself was fine . . . some of the food was very unusual . . . but the service . . . oh me . . . surely Mr. Manager you can do better . . . some of the service clubs think the same.

* * *

Last night was meeting night . . . at least for the Merchants of New Castle . . . they discussed our economic condition pro and con . . . they analyzed the Chamber of Commerce . . . they know what is wrong here in town and they are going to attempt to correct it . . . they will because they are alive and they want to stay alive . . . we are for them one hundred percent . . . everyone is with you men . . . let's have some action and let's have it now!

* * *

The East Side Garden Club is sponsoring the East Side Civic Orchestra in a concert Thursday evening of this week . . . at the Third U. P. church . . . the music will be light opera and nothing to make you sleepy and disgusted . . . it is free . . . a silver offering will be taken and that money will help beautify the east side.

* * *

You know when we invite some new industries here we want all parts of the town to look in A-1 shape . . . you see we expect to have some new form of work . . . now is the time to help the old town out . . . do everything in your power.

To Launch Big Tree Planting Campaign Here

Plans Underway To Beautify Ellwood City; Will Plant Many Trees

ELLWOOD CITY, March 10.—The city beautiful. That is the aim of the people in Ellwood City when they launched an intensive tree planting campaign to eliminate the sore spots in the community.

Yesterday the Chamber of Commerce, Women's club and the Garden club held a short meeting at which arrangements were completed to distribute 4,000 tree order blanks through the school children in the city. These will be taken home to the parents to read and select their trees. The committees of the above organizations offer a selection of three trees for sale.

There is the Redbud tree which resists smoke and insects and presents a beautiful appearance the year around. It grows to a height of eight to ten feet. The Norway Maple is the best city shade tree and also resists smoke and insects and in addition poor ground. It produces a fine shaped tree and permits grass to grow beneath it. It also grows to the same height. The Japanese Mountain Ash is a small tree from three to five feet which bears large red berries. The first tree will sell to the public at fifteen cents each or seven for a $1, the second will be at $1.15 each, and the last at fifty cents.

Those having no children in school can get in touch with the local Chamber of Commerce for any information. If any citizen wishes to purchase trees for beautification purposes and donate to the city, can also order at the chamber offices and signify the place for the tree planting.

Wide-Spread Boom In Commodity Prices Sends Stocks Upward Today

By LESLIE GOULD

NEW YORK, March 10.—A wide-spread boom in commodity prices, bringing a sympathetic spurt in shares of primary producing companies, today enabled the stock market to continue yesterday's rally.

Gains in some cases exceeded two points, with a few individual stocks jumping as much as five.

American Smelting and U. S. Rubber gained more than two points each.

In petroleums, Texas Corp., and Phillips Petroleum, on runups of close to two points, were at new 1936-37 tops.

Steels and mining stocks were in demand. Included in new peaks were Republican Steel and Silver King Coalition. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem each climbed about a point. Youngstown did slightly better.

Tobaccos were under pressure. American Tobacco "B" was off more than three points, followed by Liggett & Myers "B" which dropped as much.

Rails and motors were generally improved. Chrysler moved up a point and General Motors half as much. Fractional gains ruled the carriers.

Bonds pointed irregularly higher. Cotton spurted $1 a bale, while grains jumped two cents a bushel. Rubber and tin were spectacular.
